I'll pass on that Uniswap only crap.

Seems like pump and dump.

EDIT: I'd like to comment on what a shame and a sham that shit like this exists with a $155m market cap while Divi is only $100m.

Marketcap in crypto are a joke, look at doge!

shreder - July 13, 2021, 12:47 pm

He's only after money, I stopped watching his videos it's cringe (I use to watch a few of his non-crypto-related videos). Every other day he talks about how Bitcoin is dead then shills shitcoins. I hope he gets sued to the point he's broke.

Zoomers - July 13, 2021, 12:55 pm

Crazy I saw the video when he posted it was like 1M Fully Diluted MC.

I would have aped in if it was on bsc, cba with memecoins on eth

I would love the SEC to make an example of him , souljaboy and every other influencer

urns - July 13, 2021, 1:11 pm

It's crazy I just lost a 30x

Yeah. There should be a separate "crypto bets" forum for these shitcoins, but crypto is not big enough to warrant that.

It's not regulated enough, that's why these guys can get away with it.

You want crypto to be regulated?

Isn't the point of crypto that no central entity can control it?

Obviously those shitcoins are bad for the ecosystem.. on the other hand, if people want to gamble, let them.

Money always moves from impatient to the patient.

There are some discord and telegram groups. But its mostly just money making groups talking about it

You have to watch TechLead to understand this. It's a mockery of scam coins, he's taking the piss. And then people have gone and pumped it anyway which just makes it funnier. Every single one of TechLead's videos is sarcastic, to varying extents, nobody who watches his videos with an IQ above 1 thinks it's a serious project.

I wish I'd got involved as I saw the first video about it right as it came out but I just don't like getting involved in shitcoins, even if I do find this one funny.

How is telling people to buy in a pinned comment and dedicated video with specific links and blog posts on what Uniswap is and how to use it "Sarcastic"? He's literally a scammer.

Apocaliptos - July 13, 2021, 2:55 pm

Anything but a long term hold. You litteraly said it's a shitcoin.

Buy if you wanna get on the wave and make some profit. But sell fast.

Cryptomarket is going to regulate itself at some point or another, and cryptoshitcoins will disapear.

Seriously, if you want to go big, make a rugpull. Dont invest in one.

Why he's a scammer? Just because you missed the pump?

Because his audience knows his whole channel is a sarcastic persona. And if you look at the website you'll see clear indications he's taking the piss.

Quote:Million Token was founded by an ex-Google / ex-Facebook Tech Lead with over 1,000,000 subscribers on YouTube (as a millionaire).

Quote:There is a LION in every MILLION.

Quote:Millionaires by Millionaires

I bold the lion part as he's highlighted that on the site with a lion picture in the background.

It's so obviously a joke.

Of course, he'll make money from it if possible. Dogecoin is a joke too, so is every meme coin. There's money to be made in jokes.

It's a shitcoin no denying, but TechLead is not trying to mislead his followers, anyone who watches his videos will know it's a joke.

FUD like this made me lose a 40x

Yes sure, so the guy is supposed to have all this work, do the marketing, and not earn money with it? Come on this is why you guys will never make it!

Alright lol, you don't know what you are talking about. Ive been meme gambling too. I hit a couple of 10-100x, but also been rugged 50+ times

I know what you are talking about. But its not the right mindset to be in.

You see you lost 40x, but you know how many people lost all of their money. You may see success, but his project could have just as easily went to 0.

I have seen this countless times. People saying OMG I missed a 40x, but this is hindsight. If you didn't ape then you can't Bitch about it. How is it FUD when it is facts straight from etherscan.

AND YOUR ABSOLUTELY CORRECT THEY AREN'T SUPPOSED TO MAKE MONEY. ITS NOT A SECURITY, but of course they are motivated by money.

Hes literally rugging the liquidity and saying he isn't selling any of his tokens. Its even worst that hes pulling liquidity. Theres going to be a day of reckoning like all memecoins have.

Just an fyi if you got fuddled that easily out of something, memecoins aint for you because everywhere you look you will see FUD. if you do some form of onchain analysis you will FUD yourself out.

I also buy a lot of memecoins I know there's fud everywhere, the problem seems it was coordinated FUD on twitter, I was about to buy $1K at 4$ would been the easiest money in my life.

Isn't pump and dump scheme illegal? why is techlead not in jail? mcafee went to prison for a pump & dump scheme so im wondering why are other people getting away with it

Don't hate the player, hate the game.

Porn - July 14, 2021, 3:54 pm

Shitcoins created by teenagers without any utility have reached over $500 million market cap, TeachLead is a meme in the youtube industry but he also has credentials from Google and Facebook and millions of supporters, I wouldn't be surprised if his coin reached a billion market cap.

It's a bit of a grey area about pump and dumps concerning crypto in USA. And McAfee was not in prison for them, the accusation against him was Tax Evasion and btw, he was never put on trial or convicted. He never even reached the USA.

The SEC regulates stocks which were the old-school pump and dump schemes and yes, those are illegal and you would face jail or huge penalties for being involved. At this time in USA cryptos are not considered in the same way.

Some of you like playing these games. I think everyone involved in this shit including buyers are absolute cunts that ruin the market integrity and hurt all crypto. So I hope you lose every nickel you invest and that someone robs you blind. Oh, and that your car is stolen and you break both your arms so you can't even jerk off. That's what I think of you ass-clowns that do this crap.
