Thread: Is Apple music better than spotify?

M4A4™ - July 19, 2021, 2:16 pm

So I've been using spotify for maybe a year now but it's pissing me off, it keeps undownloading my music for no reason every other week I'm fed up.

Thinking about cancelling and getting apple music, is apple music better?

Bluffer - July 19, 2021, 3:42 pm

No way. Apple music isn't even close to Spotify's level my guy.

True. Spotify offers so many more features.

It's also a delight to use.

I like Spotify, but rumor has it Tidal is going to start allowing artists to release music directly on the platform similar to soundcloud...and get paid

Blazin - July 19, 2021, 4:22 pm

Spotify is better for playlists, radios, discovering songs, etc. Apple music has music in a better bitrate,

I prefer Youtube Music, as I can listen to unreleased songs, and almost everything.

I have owned every music service, SoundCloud++ Spotify and Apple Music and Youtube Music, and I always come back to youtube.

I've tried out all the audio streaming services, and I've been using Spotify ever since.

and w my experience on both. i like tidal but i love spotify cos more social and more songs available to my taste.

Spotify is definitely the big dick, but I'm thinking long term Tidal collab with adolby digital mastering technology and unsigned artists releasing music is gonna be really cool

Spotify - been with them since day one.

Even though I'm a big Apple fan.

I've been using YouTube Music recently but whenever I want to buy Music to support the Artist I'll usually check Apple music and buy it on there as I use an iPhone and yeah.. I wouldn't say something is better than something else I mean it's what you prefer Youtube music, forgot all about that. That would be nice to have for certain remixes of songs that aren't on other platforms.

Youtube has almost everything that you can think of now a days haha but yeah man if you want something that won't fail I'd go with Apple Music cause your music that you buy will always be stored in your iTunes acct I believe?

If your someone like me for example, and your a fan of unreleased music, let's say Lil Uzi for example, Youtube gives me the option to listen to songs that are about to be dropped.

Youtube is the second most visited site in the world, it has everything all playlists, all kinds of music, podcasts anything you could want, and more. Also you can download music from youtube to your phone with youtube music too.

Try Apple for the free trial but you will probably come back to spotify.

MetaSploit - September 15, 2021, 9:33 am

I use TuneCore for My Beat distruibution.

And Apple Music pays way more per stream than Spotify.

Love Apple Music over Spotify. ??
