

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: [\[Tutorial\] How To Get Adult Backlinks And Traffic](#)

Thevoice87 - August 1, 2021, 8:29 pm

Very quick and easy tutorial for people starting out in the adult industry and unsure HOW to get some Backlinks and traffic.

Forums, tubes, video uploads, competitors link profile.

Diversify your link profile: quick example would be 80% random keywords but related ie. Long tail keywords, short keywords, click here, website etc.. 2% your target keyword, 2% your target keyword, 2% your target keyword, 10% your brand keyword, 4% your website link www.domain.com domain.com etc. The idea is to make it look as natural as possible.

forums and tube links: there are websites out there that give you the top links for each category. ie. top forums, top tubes, top photo gallery websites etc. A good place to start would be theporndude. The idea here is to add your link to your bio on these forums and make a username related to your niche and make a few quality posts on each one. Also, get some adult pics and even try adding a small watermark of your adult website. Even look up the top tube sites and get yourself some adult vids and watermark those and mass upload to the adult tube websites. There is software out there to assist with mass uploading like "tube submitter" and some of these tubes (not many) allow you to post your adult link.

Comments: one again find the top blogs and make your username related to you niche (change up the usernames so that they're not all the same) start making comments on the blogs and put your website link there too if the option is there (your username will be the anchor text) make sense?

Competitor link profile: this is pretty straight forward get their Backlinks. Type into Google your adult keywords and analyze your top 3-5 competitors on the first page using paid or free Backlink software or websites. You can Google seoreviewtools and use their Backlinks checker for free if you're on a budget Note: There are group buy options out there for ahref$ and majestic btw ;)

Side notes:

- If purchasing the link from Fiverr or seoclerks, ask to see the website first before buying. Some of these people claim their sites get 1,000,000 views but if you look at their traffic using Alexa(dot)com/siteinfo/ you will see the traffic rank. Also, make sure their Backlinks profile isn't spammy, this WILL impact your rankings if it is.

- Use the best links for your brand keywords
- Don't steal video or pic content, buy it from a reliable source (but do what you want)
- Don't build backlinks for one whole month from the day you launched
- Build links slowly ie. Day 1- one link Day 3- one link Day 6- 2 links. Like I said make it look as natural as possible.
- Like I said earlier, diversify that link profile I can't stress this enough! Google is not stupid.
- Look at other top website lists links to find more places to put your keywords :P

I've been out of the adult game for a while and figured someone just may find this information to useful to get a head start. Good luck! :)

