I have 2 questions about this miner

1. Can you turn off the WD disable feature?
2. Is it silent? % of cores? Or always running?

Hey!

1. Yes you can disable the WD feature
2. Yes for the CPU, you can set the mining % to 25-100%. The miner will always be mining tho.
If you need you can enable the idle mode which will only mine after the user is idle for a specific amount of time

I'm very interested in buying, which crypter would you recommend that is compatible with this? The reason I ask is because I'm using a free XMR miner at the moment and i've bought 3/4 crypter private crypting services but the file never works after being crypted. So would be good to have a miner which is 100% compatible with a crypter.

Personally I can't recommend you any crypter on this forum since I am using my own downloader to execute my miner and most crypters on HF are garbage. If you get one tho I recommend buying a private stub and making sure it supports .net. Normally the file should definitely launch if the crypter is coded well

I think, its one of those very few applications which is actively developed by its developer (phantomblade)
When i bought this application, its version was 1.0

So, in 3 months developer has constantly updated the application for 7 times for its bug-fixes...

Posting the review after using the software for 3 full months. And yes, i bought lifetime license of this software by my own money. This is not a free vouch review.

1. Software GUI:

GUI is simple, solid and easy to use. After the recent ETH London fork, builder has 2 combinations: 'XMR+ETH' & 'XMR+ETC'. Now, depending upon the profit, miner will automatically select which combination to mine on the host system. (I would call it as "AI Miner", where the term 'AI' stands for 'Artificial Intelligent'. Jokes apart, this automine feature really helps the user for maximum profit.

2. Software Usage:

As per the recent update, current miner BIN size is somewhere around 6mb. You can crypt the BIN with any native crypter & it will work just fine. If you want to lower the BIN size, you can use auto-downloader for that. Startup function is awesome, once executed, miner copies itself into multiple untractable locations. Mutex function will stop execution of same miner BIN twice or more on the same system. After the execution, controller will get notification on the discord webhook which helps to track the statistics which in terms is another cool feature.

3. Support:

Before 4months from now, i really didn't know much about the developer aka 'PhantomBlade'. But after being in touch with him for the last 4months, i can surely say that, hes one of the coolest developer on HF. The guy is almost online anytime on his discord address listening & solving the issues related to miner. I mean, you just tell him the bug & not only he will take a note of it but he will solve it in the next upcoming update.

Hello, I have reviewed the phantom miner product and I have a question in my mind. What should we do when we want to change the pool after creating the miner? I am currently using pureminer and all bots are showing on the panel. I can stop the miner, change the pool and update the bot whenever I want from the panel. Does your program have these features? If yes, how does it work?

200 mh/s is nothing for a good paid miner

(Aug 15, 2021 06:55 AM)Hellmagers Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) -----FULL REVIEW AS CONTRACTED CUSTOMER-----

As I've already speculated, Phantom delivered another 10/10 product. After looking for a better Miner being fugged by other products on this forum, none suited my needs. In my opinion, this is the best paid miner you can get on the market.

The Menu/GUI is simple to understand and all setting checkboxes actually do what they say, working flawlessly.

Upon bot connection, you get a discord notification with the bots' PC-Name, specifications, etc.

The miner selects which coin to mine automatically by scanning the hardware granting you the most profit. As you would expect, it is silent, so you can set it up to only mine when the user is idle for your X amount of minutes, making it undetectable.

I've tried other miners on HF, and this is the best allround-miner you can get. Especially for a price of 65€, this is a bargain.

Simple to understand and suits the needs of anyone who needs a miner.

Phantoms' service is also flawless. He offers instant customer support and remains friendly & helps with any problems or issues.

I've also asked Phantom if he could crypt my stub, as he has crypted other files I've sent him in the past, which have been proven to be long-FUD and bypass WD.

The crypted stub is also a 10/10, its fully undetected, bypasses WD & disables it permanently. Bots stay for a long time this way.

Thanks for your product & service :)

Just a question. How can it bypass WD if it is recognized as malware? I mean, you can even crypt it. Then the user starts the crypter. The crypter writes the payload to the disk and BAM, WD shoots it down. You simply don't have a chance to run it to disable WD.

Am I forgetting something?

Yes, but during the infection you need a crypter (otherwise WD will catch the miner and delete it before it can even be started) with fileless option (run the miner in memory).

It always depends on your spreading method. Let me give you an example. If you spread cracks / fake cheats most likely they are always detected.

So you could say that they have to disable AV before installation.

But usually crypting is the best way

What coin does it mine? And How does the panel work. Does the Client need to run a VPS?

1. Software GUI:

GUI is simple, solid and easy to use. After the recent ETH London fork, builder has 2 combinations: 'XMR+ETH' & 'XMR+ETC'. Now, depending upon the profit, miner will automatically select which combination to mine on the host system. (I would call it as "AI Miner", where the term 'AI' stands for 'Artificial Intelligent'. Jokes apart, this automine feature really helps the user for maximum profit.

2. Software Usage:

As per the recent update, current miner BIN size is somewhere around 6mb. You can crypt the BIN with any native crypter & it will work just fine. If you want to lower the BIN size, you can use auto-downloader for that. Startup function is awesome, once executed, miner copies itself into multiple untractable locations. Mutex function will stop execution of same miner BIN twice or more on the same system. After the execution, controller will get notification on the discord webhook which helps to track the statistics which in terms is another cool feature.

3. Support:

Before 4months from now, i really didn't know much about the developer aka 'PhantomBlade'. But after being in touch with him for the last 4months, i can surely say that, hes one of the coolest developer on HF. The guy is almost online anytime on his discord address listening & solving the issues related to miner. I mean, you just tell him the bug & not only he will take a note of it but he will solve it in the next upcoming update.

Im like it very much???

Can i have some voucher?
