

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Add a "books" area under the life area.

bob of bobland - August 2, 2021, 1:01 pm

it can be for e-books, normal books, hacking books, really just anything books.

Charger - August 2, 2021, 1:09 pm

There's definitely not enough activity to warrant an additional section.

bob of bobland - August 2, 2021, 1:11 pm

(Aug 2, 2021 01:09 PM)Charger Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) There's definitely not enough activity to warrant an additional section.

Then what should I do if I want to discuss a book?

Charger - August 2, 2021, 1:18 pm

(Aug 2, 2021 01:11 PM)bob of bobland Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Then what should I do if I want to discuss a book?

Post about the book in the lounge

Button5 - August 2, 2021, 1:51 pm

I would do it in the lounge

T0Bi - August 2, 2021, 1:58 pm

Scrub was thinking about creating a book club in the future: Book Club?

[mention=4227846] here's another one :D

Until then, you'll probably have to resort to the lounge. I think you'll get more responses on a post about a book in the lounge than in a separate book section.

Skorp - August 2, 2021, 1:59 pm

We have a hacking section for e-books/books already

<https://hackforums.net/forumdisplay.php?fid=223> and a money section as well Free Money Making Ebooks

I think the sections are structured fine as they are now, nice and organized. If it is just a place for books you read in general, don't see it happening. Just not enough activity.

Going by your suggestion, we would have to remove those sections above and just dump them all into one section your proposing to avoid duplicate section confusion. It would just look messy with different topics in there imo. Goodluck though.

Omniscient - August 3, 2021, 1:32 pm

Sorry but no. You could possibly use this section:

Education and Careers