Thread: GTA V Mod Menu Recommendations?

Psychogenic - August 5, 2021, 9:34 am

I honestly wasn't even going to waste my time or money on one of these things but I literally only need the protections. I've been playing GTA V legit with a few friends, but we keep running into piece of shit modders.

I just got crashed out of my game twice this morning and I've about had enough.

Last menu I used was Luna. What's a good one at the moment? And undetected?

Edit: Been using Cherax. Have not gotten banned, but I also don't really mod, I just use protections and crash other abusive modders.

2take1 Menu is the best menu out there for protections however it is expensive at $120

I am not paying 120 bucks for a mod menu. I just bought Raiden for like 8 bucks.

Where are you buying these mods? Would like to see if they have Halo ?

I bought Ozark and use that, over Raiden. Raiden has a few features which come in handy sometimes, but I can unload menu's and swap between them without even closing my game. I don't like using multiple menus at once. Ozark is pretty good imo. But I am in the RGBS Discord. If you can't find a link, shoot me a DM and I'll send you an invite.

Also got banned on my main account for God knows what. I really only used protections on it.

I think I'm good, as far as a menu goes, but I saw he's selling accounts. Would love to get pretty much my main account's content back, and I can just use a menu on my current modding account.

Hit him up, thanks for this mention.

Which is the case with any 'free' product.
