Well, looks like it is finally happening. Lionel Messi is waving from an airport window upon his arrival in Paris. Only a matter of time till everything becomes official.

What are your thoughts on this whole situation? Will PSG finally win the CL this season?

Anything less than champions league win will be a massive failure.

Immense pressure. Excited to see it unfold

PSG has a great lineup and with the addition of Messi makes it even better if not the best and we know Messi performs best when there is good team work so lets wait and see how it unfolds.

Their matches will be exciting though especially with the full lineup.

Cannot wait to watch PSG in the Champions League this season. Surely it's their year now?

I love PSG since I'm in France, to be honest PSG will make a lot of money with Messi

He will be fine. I think Mbappe on the other hand is leaving regardless. PSG also rumored to want Ronaldo to take #7

Galacticos on paper, but in my opinion they will not achieve its main goal this season, which is the Champions League ...

Combo of Messi and Neymar has a champions league final written all over it.
