Thread: Requesting skilled web developer with Laravel and PHP experience

Cantaloupe - August 12, 2021, 7:26 pm

I have a website that was built from scratch in laravel/ PHP that also has some integrations with Stripe, Discord, Coinbase etc. My previous developer is no longer able to maintain the website and I am looking for someone that may be able to take over and just be available sometimes to fix errors, integrations when they break, and just do typical upkeeping for the website and database. If you are skilled in this area and want something on the side to make a bit of money then please get in touch with me. This would be a very casual thing. Its not often that things break on the site.. but when they do, its a real headache cause I can no longer easily reach the developer to fix it. Just looking for someone that is available at least once per day and would be comfortable inheriting a codebase like this.

Thanks for your time ?
