Thread: Web Design Mockup Template

Completed this design for a client running a Crypto Escrow service. This time around I wanted to make sure to keep the content and structure of the page clean, simple and very much to the point to contrast with the more stylized and gradient heavy aesthetic, as requested by the client. Let me know your guys' thoughts!

I really like the use of radial gradients in this mockup, very slick.

Looks pretty nice. My only constructive feedback here as an end user would be there is a lot of dead space on the page that could be taken out looking above and below the "total volume escrowed" block of content.
