

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Do you wear a watch?

esotericmaple - August 16, 2021, 11:47 am

In a sense, I think watches are less and less popular, due to our time always being in our pocket with a smartphone. However, I think there is still a sense of professionalism and convenience to looking at a wristwatch instead. There is also the fashion aspect to consider. I have been browsing around the lounge this afternoon and thought to discuss this

I enjoy wearing a wrist watch, being able to check the time while occupied, as well as the fact that I don't like to always be carrying my phone around.

If you do wear a watch, which watch do you wear? My daily driver is a Casio G-Shock DW-6900. Sturdy, durable and reliable.

dumbledore - August 16, 2021, 11:54 am

I don't, it feels uncomfortable for me, but I guess it just takes some getting used to.

esotericmaple - August 16, 2021, 11:57 am

(Aug 16, 2021 11:54 AM)dumbledore Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't, it feels uncomfortable for me, but I guess it just takes some getting used to.

Definitely. On the other side of things, I think that if you have been wearing one for years, you start to feel bare for without it.

b?xxy - August 16, 2021, 12:29 pm

I definitely wear a watch when I can, but due to my extracurricular activities I generally have to take it off.

esotericmaple - August 16, 2021, 12:46 pm

(Aug 16, 2021 12:29 PM)b?xxy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I definitely wear a watch when I can, but due to my extracurricular activities I generally have to take it off.

What is your watch of choice?

Gliese 667Cc - August 16, 2021, 12:56 pm

When i am not carrying my phone, yeah, I do wear a watch. It's good to free ourselves from phones from time to time. You don't need it when you are going to a store, hanging out with friends, taking a walk. Creed from aluxam watches is my watch of choice.

esotericmaple - August 16, 2021, 1:01 pm

(Aug 16, 2021 12:56 PM)Gliese 667Cc Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) When i am not carrying my phone, yeah, I do wear a watch. It's good to free ourselves from phones from time to time. You don't need it when you are going to a store, hanging out with friends, taking a walk. Creed from aluxam watches is my watch of choice.

Definitely. Nothing ticks me off more than trying to engage in conversations with people, like friends you have over, and they can't stay off of their phone. Best to leave it at home and enjoy the real world when it's possible.

Palestine - August 16, 2021, 1:08 pm

I love wearing watches, looks and feels classy and for my profession I do tend to use it really often to measure heartrates/breathing rates/etc. My daily was a beautiful digital Armani Exchange but now it's a beautiful big face black fossil analog :D

esotericmaple - August 16, 2021, 1:11 pm

(Aug 16, 2021 01:08 PM)Palestine Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I love wearing watches, looks and feels classy and for my profession I do tend to use it really often to measure heartrates/breathing rates/etc. My daily was a beautiful digital Armani Exchange but now it's a beautiful big face black fossil analog :D Those fossil watches in black go great with any outfit aesthetically, pure class. Superb choice.

Palestine - August 16, 2021, 1:12 pm

(Aug 16, 2021 01:11 PM)esotericmaple Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Those fossil watches in black go great with any outfit aesthetically, pure class. Superb choice.

Agreed! I actually do wear it with just about anything and it defiantly does go great. Thanks man

blxcklist - August 16, 2021, 1:12 pm

I got an Apple Watch Series 6, I wear it daily.

hayesh - August 16, 2021, 1:16 pm

I dont wear a watch but im definitely thinking of getting one to aid in acquiring females

Palestine - August 16, 2021, 1:17 pm

(Aug 16, 2021 01:16 PM)hayesh Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I dont wear a watch but im definitely thinking of getting one to aid in acquiring females

Lol I dont think a watch will be the difference in you getting females or not but to each their own! Good luck

esotericmaple - August 16, 2021, 1:24 pm

(Aug 16, 2021 01:16 PM)hayesh Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I dont wear a watch but im definitely thinking of getting one to aid in acquiring females

A watch in itself won't attract females unless it is a watch that indicates wealth, such as a Rolex or something, although I'm not too experienced with high-end watches. Mostly because I am cheap, but also I care about functionality and aesthetics more than status.

Although, women that want you for a watch are probably not the people you want to attract.

Palestine - August 16, 2021, 1:28 pm

(Aug 16, 2021 01:24 PM)esotericmaple Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) A watch in itself won't attract females unless it is a watch that indicates wealth, such as a Rolex or something, although I'm not too experienced with high-end watches. Mostly because I am cheap, but also I care about functionality and aesthetics more than status.

Although, women that want you for a watch are probably not the people you want to attract.

i second this. I attracted most of my female partners with my awesome personality :D haha

The - August 16, 2021, 3:18 pm

I wear a watch in my pocket.

It's called a phone.

Deany - August 16, 2021, 5:12 pm

(Aug 16, 2021 11:47 AM)esotericmaple Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) In a sense, I think watches are less and less popular, due to our time always being in our pocket with a smartphone. However, I think there is still a sense of professionalism and convenience to looking at a wristwatch instead. There is also the fashion aspect to consider. I have been browsing around the lounge this afternoon and thought to discuss this

I enjoy wearing a wrist watch, being able to check the time while occupied, as well as the fact that I don't like to always be carrying my phone around.

If you do wear a watch, which watch do you wear? My daily driver is a Casio G-Shock DW-6900. Sturdy, durable and reliable.

Nope, I never wear them. I don't like accessories on me that aren't headphones ?

?itcoin - August 16, 2021, 6:07 pm

I do, depends on what I am wearing and what style I am going for, but I got to be honest, I don't have any fancy watches, don't wear those ugly cheap ones but at the same time I ain't spending a bunch of money on one, if I like it I wear it.

f o r m i d a b l e - August 16, 2021, 8:31 pm

People these days don't wear a watch to tell time (hence smartphone). McGregor said he doesn't wear watches to tell time. Luxury is luxury, so watches will never die.

I like European watches. U-Boats are nice.

Polymorph - August 16, 2021, 8:35 pm

I always wear a watch. Black Guess Watch. Super classy and fits majority of my outfits. I never use it to check the time, purely for fashion purposes.

??? - August 16, 2021, 11:10 pm

I used to religiously, grew out of it. Plan on purchasing an AP soon so i might wear that more often we will see.

siddy357 - August 16, 2021, 11:22 pm

(Aug 16, 2021 11:47 AM)esotericmaple Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) In a sense, I think watches are less and less popular, due to our time always being in our pocket with a smartphone. However, I think there is still a sense of professionalism and convenience to looking at a wristwatch instead. There is also the fashion aspect to consider. I have been browsing around the lounge this afternoon and thought to discuss this

I enjoy wearing a wrist watch, being able to check the time while occupied, as well as the fact that I don't like to always be carrying my phone around.

If you do wear a watch, which watch do you wear? My daily driver is a Casio G-Shock DW-6900. Sturdy, durable and reliable.

Having a smart phone around has reduced its need in our day to day life. But a good watch can improve ones looks and one can look professional with a watch.

clean - August 16, 2021, 11:23 pm

I wear an Apple Watch. They are pretty nice if not able to use a phone at work, I use to have this problem, now I just wear it out of habit.

LeetSpeed - August 16, 2021, 11:42 pm

No I tend to loose watches when I wear them.

Artisan - August 16, 2021, 11:44 pm

I wear a watch too. Checking the time on the phone is not convenient all the time and its easier to just have a look at the wrist.

Eladictococy - August 17, 2021, 3:53 am

I do. Watches never get out of fashion.

Echoz - August 17, 2021, 9:02 am

I bought a series 6 44mm apple watch and really enjoy it. I bought a screen protector and finally have a scratch on the watch due to a swinging door scraping the side of it... But to be honest I'm not very worried about it. I love it and it's functionality. Eventually I'd love to get myself a TAG watch.

Ruggzee - August 17, 2021, 9:54 am

Yeah always saw my dad with one, and in my line of work it's kind of normal to have a watch. Adds to the attire.

esotericmaple - August 17, 2021, 12:28 pm

(Aug 17, 2021 12:26 PM)-Scrub Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I do not wear any watches really, I'd like to start wearing them though . I've seen some nice ones lately that have been catching my eye .

I always recommend Casio watches, specifically the G-Shock line as a good introductory watch for people interested in functionality, while still looking pretty good. Affordable, and battery life typically lasting several years.

skull - August 17, 2021, 9:21 pm

I wear an Apple Watch. It was uncomfortable at the beginning, but now I think it makes me look more professional

Lyrarei - August 18, 2021, 4:35 am

Nope, and even if it's for style alone, it feels iffy to wear one from where I live, and since I don't want to get mugged, I'll keep to myself.

Yanix - August 18, 2021, 5:36 am

I just wear my watch when I will be leaving our house but take it off when I'm at home.

ailo - August 18, 2021, 6:24 am

Nah i dont wear watches, i dont see the points.

SIM-5067195 - August 19, 2021, 6:17 am

Yes. I bought an Apple Watch, but after a few weeks, I returned it because it seemed too excessive as a wearable device.

Blogger - August 19, 2021, 8:40 pm

I used to wear a watch every single day but it broke one day and I never bothered to replace it. It's been years since I wore one but I've actually been wanting to get one.

Framework - August 20, 2021, 6:01 am

I recently purchased an Apple Watch Series 6 and I wear it everyday.

It's extremely comfortable, I can always keep track of my heart rate and if I want to take a look at cryptos I have a really helpful widget which I can open and shows the prices of my favorite cryptos.

Demize - August 20, 2021, 6:22 am

I did for awhile I recently stopped cause I got a new tattoo, kind of like not wearing one I feel more "free" and unavailable as it was an apple Watch and it kept me pretty connected to my phone.

DumbDuck - August 20, 2021, 6:33 am

I personally think that with wearable tech becoming more popular, people will start to wear things like smart watches instead of relying on their phones. Though I am biased, I really like my smart watch lol.

Gramatik - August 20, 2021, 1:28 pm

I wear a G-Shock watch, but to be honest when I need to see the hour I'm using my smartphone..

mark187 - August 21, 2021, 3:11 am i like wearing my watch at all times "casio g-shock"

cig - August 21, 2021, 3:29 am

I wear watches when I'm going to a meeting or a dinner and want to sharpen up.

* - August 21, 2021, 11:21 am

I always want to check my wrist to see the time but realize I don't wear a watch, I think I will be purchasing one soon but need one that can withstand dirt, water and weather as I work in these terrains.

RTKN - August 21, 2021, 5:53 pm

Yes always haha time specially working days

Yanix - August 21, 2021, 6:00 pm

(Aug 21, 2021 05:53 PM)RTKN Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes always haha time specially working days
I know you need a watch with you so you will not be late for your date with your girlfriend ?

ForBobo - August 21, 2021, 6:01 pm

Always, every work day. Extremely handy for checking the time quickly and generally looks more professional depending on the environment you're in.

Some people will say a watch is useless because they have things like their phone or whatnot, but checking your phone every x amount of time is extremely distracting, especially when you work tight schedules. Whenever you want to check the time you may see a notification like a text or a call or a discord message that you may want to respond to. It's a lot less stressful to just be able to not look at a bunch of notifications every 30 mins when you check the time.

RTKN - August 21, 2021, 6:10 pm

(Aug 21, 2021 06:00 PM)Yanix Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I know you need a watch with you so you will not be late for your date with your girlfriend ?
hhahaha noooo

Prawnster - August 21, 2021, 6:18 pm

I bought a watch when I was younger because my job at the time wouldn't let me use my phone for the time and the clocks there were wrong (probably unintentionally, cuz it was a shithole), and since then I've been loving them haha, started off with a cheap, like £90 random branded one just because I needed one and I got given one from my partner last year, looking to buy a new one for like 300-500 this year I think :)

Ghostmode65 - August 21, 2021, 6:42 pm

Time goes out of sync or dead battery, not the most practical thing to use anymore

I--I - August 22, 2021, 10:50 pm

I used to wear a Bulova diamond series just because it looked good, but now I really don't give a shit. So no, I don't wear a watch anymore.