How can I help you what do you need to know about trading ? How to start?

First of all you can use a trading platform like Binance Kucoin, or Okex

The best that everybody uses the most in binance.

Second of all you need a Trading View account to do TA and see the charts, if you have any other questions feel free to contact me.

I understand that you need to learn but you shouldve typed that in google or youtube, thats such a very broad thing to ask for, if you need help please specify what exactly you need, but since you're new you could literally benifit from youtube tbh i many people have covered the basics and even some advanced topics , i'm pretty sure there is nothing you wouldn't be able to find if it helps. im a complete noob aswell. i just buy the 10 or 20% dips on binance. then sell when up 5 or 10%. it works for me.

obviously i have rules. i only buy the dips of coins that have atleast a few months history of dips and upping agaiun
