How much data do you use monthly on your cell phone?

I currently have a 57GB / month plan. Notice I'm using 35GB or so every month.

What's everyone else usage like?

It really depends for me, some months I just go full reading mode and never open videos and use around 20 gbs max, but these days I've been using something like 60-100 gbs a month just from updates and random videos.

I'm on Wi-Fi most of the time with work-from-home, although on days where Wi-Fi is completely down or I'm away from home I use upwards of 10GB per day.

I am on WiFi all the time with my phone.

The only time I am using my data is at work or if I am out.

But I hardly use data anyways, it usually goes to waste. lol

Around 10GB a month for me. (I have a 15 GB/month plan)

Now regarding WiFi I have had plenty of cases where I hit over the 1TB limit my ISP gives me and wants to charge me more.

Probably all from my Desktop.

bro who asked?

jk love you.

Thats honestly crazy I have a business line with att and I have unlimited for life, so I never worry about data.

I have a WiFi at home so it's pretty obvious that my usage on mobile data is low.

Mobile: 15 GB approx.

WiFi: 30-50 GB approx.

my family plan which has 4 people on it gets like 40GB a month and we never really even come close to that

Molegrips - August 22, 2021, 12:17 pm

I use about 10-15gb mobile data mainly on wifi

Dan - August 22, 2021, 12:36 pm

I dual sim. Data varies but usually around 55gb a month between the two

Sim 1: 100gb

Sim 2: 20gb

Aromaz - August 22, 2021, 4:14 pm

Around 2 GB per month, Im always on wifi.

HEISENPUG - August 22, 2021, 4:18 pm

I'm usually home on Wi-Fi but i have unlimited plan with Verizon so it don't really matter.

I only use about 5gb a month and that was mostly just listening to music on Youtube, but now I have premium and it's down to like 2gb/month.

I just don't really use my phone very often for anything other than calls, music, gps, and photos.
