Thread: New Here, Looking for direction

Wildman22 - August 22, 2021, 8:04 pm

Hello all, I've recently decided to pursue work in the world of hacking. I have no idea as to what specifically, but I imagine I'll be pursuing ethical hacking in the form of a formal job. Just wondering where I can get started here in terms of education. I have a few hours a day to spend on this goal. Any help is greatly appreciated. Thanks, and I look forward to interacting with this community.

Welcome, first make sure to check out the Help Docs to learn how things work around here.

If you're looking for direction the best thing to always do is start with programming. Learn Python and Javascript, or whatever best meets your goals. Set goals. I'm sure you'll accomplish a lot if you put in the time and effort. Hope you enjoy the forums [^^]_
