Right now just getting back into computer tech. Currently enrolled to start this coming year in IT. So getting back into the groove per sey. Have some things I am working on at the moment, primarily Real Estate. But want to expand my knowledge in IT and from there Cyber Sec. So that being said, looking to make new friends and learn some new things in the process.

Already on that trail. Been updating old knowledge and such. My last system was what I referred to as a 4/8. I had 4 boxes running through a omniview switch box to 8 screens. My ex-wife called me a freak ha ha. My boxes were Quad-cores with 3.2 gig hrtz. Now I am heading back into the fray and getting enthused by it more each day. Old becomes new and new becomes better.
