Thread: Issue with textbox in conversations on mobile view

So it's a very minor thing, but really a big annoyance with using the conversations on my mobile.

So, when typing in the textbox to send a message, once a new line is entered, the page doesn't adjust with the expanding box. I need to close the keyboard and re-open it again every time for it to adjust, and being able to see what I've typed.

I hope I explained it correctly. Using the latest version of Chrome on Android.

Usually I just keep typing on my phone and just hope that it comes out correct with auto correct catching any issues. Lol.

But yes, minor inconvenience.

I have the same issue on my phone. It works better if I rotate the screen. But still not perfect.

Hah! This is exactly how I do it as well.

Yeah, that function could be better. We've adjusted it a couple times already. May need to try another method.
