Kryme - August 27, 2021, 6:56 am

If YOU are a Front End Web Dev and want some extra cash, read below.

I am currently wanting to offer a skilled Front End Web Dev with the opportunity to let their creativity and talent run wild on my website.

I would like to totally revamp the theme and make it brandable and unique with its own style.

If this sounds like something that may interest you, the following tasks would include.

- Working with me discussing how the site will look (color schemes/visibility)
- Optimizing the site to be as fast and SEO friendly as possible with mobile responsiveness.
- Designing & Developing the Front End of the site.

The sites backend is well made and has great documentation for any info needed during the integration process.

Are you up for making a bit of extra cash and potentially having a longstanding client for future jobs etc?
