Thread: [\[OFFICIAL\] Infamous Recruitment | only 2 spots](#)

Proof - August 28, 2021, 1:32 pm

Infamous is looking for 2 new high-quality members to join our group.

Leaders:

iNviZ

Eagle 95

SUI-3183372

SIM-1729678

Proof

Anyone can join this recruitment. L33ts, Ub3rs, normal users. It doesn't matter.

Requirements:

Our minimum requirements to apply to Infamous are not steep, however, all potential members profiles will be heavily reviewed prior to acceptance.

The decision of whether or not a member gets accepted into the group is not only based off of these requirements but they are a first step in making sure we accept the members that we feel are worthy.

- You must have 0 unresolved deal disputes.
- You must have a minimum of 100 posts.
- Your account must be at least 3 months old.
- No users who define themselves based on their HF status
- If you have sales threads we will review what you're selling to ensure we're not on-boarding someone peddling cheap/fake/bad goods/services.

Application:

Tell us about yourself, what you do, who you are, what your hobbies are, are you specialised in anything? be creative, surprise us.

Feel free to private message Proof or Bastille with any questions regarding this recruitment. We wish you all the best of luck in applying.

Infamous does not accept payment for entry under any circumstance. Please remember to deal only onsite.

iNviZ - August 28, 2021, 1:33 pm

Number one group on HF. Please no one request to buy in. We don't accept buy in's. Declined a 1k offer last week. Good luck and look forward to a couple new brothers.

Kosmos - August 28, 2021, 1:38 pm

I'm very excited to see who is going to apply and who is going to be accepted. Good luck, everyone.

Looks awesome!

I'd write an application, but I am not as creative as I was in the earlier stage of HF back in 2014-2017.

But best of luck with the group and also best of luck to everyone that applies <3

Bankrupt - August 28, 2021, 1:42 pm

I specialize in gaming, and social media, I am applying because the group has a very extensive history on HF and id love to be a part of one of the original groups that stays true to its roots.

Im 23 years old, and ive been on HF for some time but just recently started spending more time on site, primarily in the last year. Since coming back to HF and really spending some time here ive found my way around the forum and personally enjoy interacting with people on site, and im always looking for a new way to engage with a crowd specifically from HF.

I spend alot of time online at my PC whether im gaming or just watching youtube relaxing, I have found covid allowed me alot more free time than previously and ive spent alot of it on HF. Thank you for reading my submission to InFamous

SIM-1729678 - August 28, 2021, 2:01 pm

Best of luck to everyone ?

guardian - August 28, 2021, 2:05 pm

I am guardian, I am in my early twenties and my biggest hobby is probably Cyber Security and, of course, HF. Currently I am studying Cyber Security at a University in Europe. My career in Cyber Security actually started because of HF. I wanted to hack back an Instagram account I had back in 2014 with more than 100k followers, which was quite a lot at the time, that got hacked. I forgot about the account rather quick and got into hacking. Shortly after I also picked up my first programming language, Python. I have been into all of this for more than 7 years now.

Apart from that I also enjoy sports. Mainly doing bodyweight exercises as of right now, but I am planning to start MMA soon. I have always been into martial arts and wanted to go to an MMA gym, when I was a teenager, however they sent me home, telling me I was too young. Well, I am old enough now and I think it's the right time to start.

Currently I earn my money as a freelancer, but me and my roommate have several products in the making that will soon be sold on HF's marketplace. Our current main focus is a crypter, which should be done within the next few weeks.

I would love to be accepted into Infamous to connect with new people and have some great chats.

Have a great weekend everyone and take care!

Tell us about yourself, what you do, who you are, what your hobbies are, are you specialised in anything? be creative, surprise us.

So, ill start off by saying that im 26, ive been around hf for around 8 years now give or take, came here to look for gamertags and other xbox services and ended up sticking around for the community, had some absences from posting on the site and recently in the past year and a half became active again, i enjoy the tight knit community, ive made a few friends along the way [mention=4227846] and [mention=420] being some of them, but as far as who i am? Well i work for an automotive dealership, ive worked in the automotive business since i turned 18 starting at autozone, and then moving to BMW and now Honda, i have pretty good knowledge about cars, customer service, i currently work in the parts department where i enjoy it quite a bit. My hobbies include watching alot of movies, going to concerts, baseball games. I also enjoy hunting and fishing, I recently started getting into the shoe game and just bought my third pair of jordans hope to own a lot more soon but they can be pricey. I don't really specialize in anything, but i do feel as if im well rounded and have knowledge in a lot of things, i spent alot of time browsing the site, and browsing reddit where i pick up alot of information. Whenever i purchase something i do extensive research before i buy it, as an example i ended up spending about 2 weeks researching flashlights and ended up buying two that shine about 300 yards. Don't really know why i needed ones that bright, but i just feel as if they may come in handy one day. I try to be unjudgemental, and i pride myself on being that person you can talk to if you need to vent, or just a second opinion, everyone has gone through shit in their life and i always try help people navigate their feelings.

As far as what i can bring to the group? I'm someone that is very outgoing, i feel as i could become close with all the members in infamous, im always looking for more close friends that can turn into family and this group looks to call eachother family.

Technical Analysis & Support

Why did I come to HF?

I have been around HF since the early 2014 days. My initial intent coming to HF was Dos/DDoS, then later became interested in the gray hat pen-testing scene. My first official group was Legion. After joining Legion pen testing sector, I became fond of a lot users and what HF had to offer. The next step I was introduced to the market then created my first projects. After 2015 I took a Hatus I noticed how much time gaming & HF consumed of my life and losing all my crypto didn't sit well.

Current online ventures:

BTC mining has been my number one eye catching venture, currently to build wealth. Some technical analysis I have reading to understand more & more. I'm very well knowledgeable in the online monetization field. My next project will be building an e-commerce store for part time hustle.

Why do I think I should join?

I'm an interesting and funny guy. If you wanna know how cool I am, call me Static Shook.

Cap - August 29, 2021, 1:31 pm

It's great to see a couple spots opened up for this group. Anyways, here is my application:

I've been on HF since 2009 and have seen this place change in various ways. I used to be just a lurker back in the day but over the last couple years I have started picking up activity. I stepped away from HF for a little time due to being in college a few years ago. But now I can't seem to get off it. I'm very passionate about Hack Forums, enjoy giving back, helping out members, and just being apart of this great community.

Apart from Hack Forums, I'm working on creating my own web developer business. I have a Masters in Computer Science and would love to build a business and have a steady career in that field. Two of my biggest motivations in my life are my wife and son. I wouldn't be who I am today if it wasn't for them and they push me to be better everyday.

Some of my hobbies that I really enjoy are web development, sports (soccer, football, basketball, and wiffle ball - I have a pretty mean slider), fantasy football, and just being with my family. We just had our fantasy football draft last night and I already lost a player due to an ACL tear in a preseason game - it's a great start.

I appreciate the opportunity to apply and look forward to seeing who you select.

Fortunate - August 29, 2021, 2:49 pm

Hey everyone, I'm Fortunate. Been on this forum for a good 6 years now and looking to be here for 10 more. I'm all up for all kinds of contribution as long as it helps the forum thrive and I've always seen groups as a motivator to do exactly that. I'm a laid-back guy in my twenties with plenty of experience. I just started studying Computer Science and I'm looking forward to put my new knowledge on the table and share it with everyone here on HF.

I get along with people, I never discriminate anyone and I am very honest to others and to myself, even to the point where I beat myself too hard but in the end that keeps me going. I like to be creative. I have all kinds of projects going on all the time, whether it would something to do with coding, photography, video-editing, writing or music. I enjoy being with people and people complete me. I wouldn't be me if it wasn't for others.

I've also had an entrepreneurial mindset since I was little, this started off just with me selling toys as a kid. I eventually got caught for selling my toys to the kids around my neighborhood and got in trouble for charging them too much. From time to time, I tend to sell products here and I'm always looking for new business opportunities even though money isn't my motivator. I care about my customers and always want to ensure the best end product possible. I also use these opportunities to learn; I thrive when I learn and want to continue learning til I die.

I've always been a fan of logical determinism and think that things happen for a reason, whether it's good or bad. I hope that you could consider me as one of your new members and I'm looking forward to talking with the team.

Carrot - August 29, 2021, 5:03 pm

Why I want to be in Infamous?

an orange Carrot is a healthy Carrot.

I am Carrot, I live in England, UK!

I'm a freelance web developer and a 2nd Line Support Technician.

My hobbies include; sitting in the HF chat, eating, sleeping, binge watching netflix, cinema, golf and gym.

Can't really say I specialise in anything, maybe I do and just don't feel its a speciality.

7 - August 30, 2021, 3:14 am

Genuinely this is a great opportunity. I would love to be invited to the group.

Work-wise I spend most of the time with servers, CRM systems, development, security, graphics & during the weekends I raise money for charities performing music with guitar and vocals e.t.c

Hobbies = Growth... Anything that adds more skills to my belt I love

Good luck to anyone applying.

Sky - August 30, 2021, 2:59 pm

iNviZ and I go all the way back to 2011 with those late night Halo sessions with THL and Qwazz. When I first joined the forum, I joined to learn how to boot and to boost people in Halo 3. During my early days here, I easily boosted hundreds of members; [\[| Official Halo Boosting Thread |\]](#) Skill, EXP, Custom and Credit Boosting.

I've made awards, written news, wiki articles, been mentor and donated thousands to the site. Despite the fact that my tenure on my original account went down in flames due to poking the bear that is Omni (not advised), I was welcomed back to find that the activity on the forum has taken a steep decline over the past couple of years. I'm hoping to help fix that as much as I can, how I can.

Since joining the forum, I've become a father, gained a fine career with job security, got a home, found a girl and live comfortably. I still find times to enjoy some hobbies, like fishing, basketball, gaming and music. I've learned a lot during my time here, things that not only benefit me on the site, but correlate to the real world.

I won't bother listing all of the tutorials, guides and contests I hosted on my old account, as I find it to be irrelevant, because it isn't about what you've done, it's about what you're doing. But I will go ahead and post the most recent contributions:

[\[| Official Group Warriors |\]](#) Upgrade, Bytes or Award - Daily Entries!

Starstruck's 30,000 Bytes Contest - 3 Winners!

I also have a huge event upcoming soon that I'm hosting along with other Warriors. After that event, I intend to host a Graphics Contest with a $100 cash prize. I don't expect to be accepted, but iNviZ said I could put in an application, so that maybe I can return home to the place where it all started for me on HF. Regardless of the decision I still fully intend to contribute to the site however I can, because for me, it's about more than pixels on a screen. Thanks for the opportunity.

False King - August 31, 2021, 8:59 am

I've been on the forums for about 8 years now, with periods of non-activity in between. However, I always seem to come back. I'm an eager-to-learn person and committed to friends, family, and communities in general. I'm not a salesman, nor a complete loungeur. My interests vary very much, and I enjoy spending my time helping out others. Based on my posting activity, you'll mostly see me active within the Life and Coding parts of the forum. Over the years, I've experienced quite a few things in my life, which I've always tried to turn around, learn from, grow from, and give back wherever possible. Bad things that happen to you as a person, tend to be something you can turn into helping someone else. Especially once you realize that even though everyone is unique in their own way, you're probably not the first person encountering specific issues.

I'm a Software Engineer/Coach at heart, it's my passion. I enjoy doing it and have been doing it for years. I always try to set new goals for myself. This can be in my career, but also in my mental and physical health. I'm straightforward in my opinions. You can be my friend or my "enemy", I'll tread you the same way. If you can't handle opinions not aligned with yours, we'll probably not be good friends. I expect people to accept and respect other people their opinions and personality (exceptions can be made, of course).

NavTech - August 31, 2021, 11:18 am

Tell us about yourself, what you do, who you are, what your hobbies are, are you specialized in anything? be creative, surprise us.

Well I just turned 26 years old. Just started University for Computer Science. I used to be pretty active on the forums back in 2011 - 2014. Joined the military as an Aviation Electronics Technician. Worked on weapons, radar, GPS, and comms systems(pretty much anything electronic on an aircraft) on F18s and MH-60Rs Got pretty entangled with the daily grind and deployment and stopped frequenting HF. After the military I did disaster relief around the US for a year. Was a pretty great experience and got to meet a lot of people from all walks of life. Honestly brings you a pretty strong sense of how much humanity is actually left in the world. Seeing people at their absolute rock bottom showing so much humility is an eye opening experience.

If I was to say I have any sort of specialization it would be in Linux/Unix based operating systems. That section of the forum died out quite a while ago but used to be my little niche here on the forums. I've seen this forum change in a lot of different ways over the years. Gained some amazing friendships that are still going on strong today whether those friends are still active members of this forum or not. 2011 to now has honestly just been one big learning experience from an extremely diverse population of people here on HF.

My hobbies consist of Black Smiting/Blade Smiting, computer programming/game development, fishing and hunting, and pretty much anything to deal with the outdoors. One of my favorite things to do is to go on "hikes". Clouds Rest in Yosemite is my all time favorite hike/climb I've done to date. I plan on climbing Mt. Whitney sometime next year if I win the lottery lol I've missed it twice now lol.

Now that I'm going to University and being a broke ass college student I'm going to have far more free time on my hands to start being more active in a place that has honestly helped shape my future in a lot of different ways.

Tells us about yourself?:

I'd rather not. I would prefer NOT to dox myself too much, I can however say that I love animals, and I have 9 pet rats whit, my girlfriend. I don't own a car and I never will, I love Programming and but I'm more into Cyber sec. Then I am to programming tho I feel like they go hand in hand, if I, however, need a new skill I will go to great lengths to learn that skill if I can. That's about it about me

What I do?:

I know some, not a lot of languages. At the moment im trying to learn Python. I don't really work, as I have a damaged right shoulder due to a car accident in 2019, and im on pension. To sum it up, I am retired.

Who you are?:

I am a dude from Denmark, im 34 years of age, I am or want to be an Ethical hacker/Cyber Security expert. Maybe to work at as it sometime in the future but for now i is simply a hobby.

my other hobbies consist of:

Drawing,

Music(not making it, only listen),

Cooking,

Programming(web dev mostly)

Talking about subjects I know and don't know to learn new stuff

No, I don't have any specialization, im new to this universe called Cyber Security.

Other notes:

I read hackers manifesto - by the mentor(i think when I was 15) and I fell in love whit Computers right there, im 34 now.

I have a lot to learn, I know very little about the subject and I am self-taught in most subjects I know, including programming!

Never went to school due to my upbringing, had a rough life, where I learned nothing comes without a price, Quote from Dr. strange movie: "The bill comes due...always."

I am a former drug addict, im clean now(1 year) YAY ME! I don't do drugs or drink alcohol of any kind.

Biggy - September 1, 2021, 6:33 pm

About me

Hey, so I'm Biggy. Been on HF for a little while now. About my personal life - I'm currently in the Retail industry and I manage xx amount of stores in a large corporation. Within the past year, I've relocated with the company I work for and moved to a new city. Outside of work, I'm in the gym quite often and I am also a personal trainer. Fitness is my passion after losing quite a bit of weight, and that is one thing that may make me stand out from the other infamous members - fitness advice. :)

My HF History

I started off on the forum as a frequent viewer/posted, but then became extremely involved in supporting the forum and being a contributing member. HF quickly sucked me in and I became very drawn to the community.

Throughout the past year, I was inactive and was not able to participate much in the forum. Right before being inactive, I was not being a friendly member and had a bit of an "ego" if you will. There really isn't any excuse for it other than simply being immature. However, now I'm back and looking to be the member that I was for the first few years here.

Some of my HF Contributions are:

Writ3rs - Wiki

Writ3rs - HF News

Sticky Man Award - "How do I start working out?" | Beginner's Fitness Guide

Sticky Man Award - The Ultimate Overwatch Beginner's Guide

Tutorial - [\[GUIDE\] How to PROPERLY secure an Instagram Account](#)

Tutorial - [\[GUIDE\] How to improve at CS:GO](#)

Tutorial - [\[GUIDE\] How to start streaming on Twitch](#)

Helpdesk - Famous Helpdesk #1 - All Social Media Questions

Helpdesk - Fitness Advice Helpdesk

...and of course some giveaways along the way. There are many positive notations of some things that I've done around the forum, and my goal now is to come back from inactivity and do some of the same things as above, and if not, even more. I'm more motivated now than ever to become one of the most contributing members on the forum, and I would love to do so under the infamous name.

In addition, there are some positive changes coming with the HF News that I'm trying to be apart of, and hoping it's a big turn out that will bring some attention back to the news.

Why me?

So, the biggest part to all of this is, why me? Well, that question is certainly hard to answer. Looking at some of the posts on this thread, there are some HQ applicants that would make amazing members.

Not to mention, every single member I've seen with an Infamous userbar are probably some of the best members of the community from what I've seen. Most of the leaders are members that I've looked up to around the forum since I've been here.

However... my goal is simple, to come back strong, with a positive attitude and be as contributing as I possibly can. Hopefully you can see I may not be the most "popular" user, however what I can do, is make a big difference. Let's do this!

Good luck to all the other applicants and thanks for reading. :)

Infamous is looking for 2 new high-quality members to join our group.

Leaders:

iNviZ

Xerotic

Eagle 95

Kill Joy

SUI-3183372

SIM-1729678

Proof

Anyone can join this recruitment. L33ts, Ub3rs, normal users. It doesn't matter.

Requirements:

Our minimum requirements to apply to Infamous are not steep, however, all potential members profiles will be heavily reviewed prior to acceptance.

The decision of whether or not a member gets accepted into the group is not only based off of these requirements but they are a first step in making sure we accept the members that we feel are worthy.

- You must have 0 unresolved deal disputes.
- You must have a minimum of 100 posts.
- Your account must be at least 3 months old.
- No users who define themselves based on their HF status
- If you have sales threads we will review what you're selling to ensure we're not on-boarding someone peddling cheap/fake/bad goods/services.

Application:

Tell us about yourself, what you do, who you are, what your hobbies are, are you specialised in anything? be creative, surprise us.

Feel free to private message Proof , SIM-1729678 or iNviZ with any questions regarding this recruitment. We wish you all the best of luck in applying.

I have been using a computer since I am 4 years old, I am 40 years old (Commodore 64 as first computer, then Amiga 500, then Amiga 1200, then various PCs).

I am a network systems engineer, IT technician and web developer.

I like hacking on an ethical level and as I don't belong to any crew here on HF, you have to get me :)

A hug :)

Hi I am Dad. This is one of the most unique, and top tier groups on HF to my eyes. Seeing this has encouraged me to want to be apart of this great community! I am not a highly skilled member within the online world but I am always looking to learn new things.

I provide HQ Exchanges within HF and with being here since April I have been able to provide over $20,000 in exchanges with all positive B ratings and I will always provide that service for each and every customer.

For me, I have a interest in many subjects from stocks/crypto, real estate, and so fourth.

My non artistic literature is not perfect.. I will work on that too. Let's see if I can hustle to become Infamous to the rest ;)

Thank you for the consideration.

Artichoke - September 9, 2021, 11:50 am

I'm into the outdoors, psychology, and have started studying economics and investing. I am in grad school and published. Since the Halo days I don't really game. As I said in your last recruitment thread, this is the only current HF group I think is worth being in. I probably won't be considered because none of my friends from this site are still around so I'm irrelevant again, but I'd happily accept a spot. I'd like to make more friends on this site again, a lot of my older ones turned out to be great connections to have.

I'm a 23 year old Canadian, My name is Chase. I've been in social media growth and management since 2017 and first came to this site in 2014 but didn't understand it or it's services at the time. since growing up, maturing and learning that i love entrepreneurship - i have come back and found that many of the services here are very needed so i do check here 5-10 times a day, and play the bytes lottery when i'm bored.

In late 2020 i have been offered a business partnership with a local millionaire and that is what i've been working on this whole year as well as my many other side hustles. i love staying busy and i love communicating with others to learn from them. I can be working and playing FiveM at the same time. My hobbies are gaming, golf, sports, watching sports, and finding new investments.

I stumbled upon HackForums while searching query about Facebook. I liked the community here therefore stayed for much longer time. I've seen Infamous member has really cool members and I would love to interact with them in close environment. I'm kinda introvert and really suck at starting conversations with strangers.

I'm into Social Media Marketing and work with a lot of reputed brands which I cannot disclose in public. I'm very passionate about Blockchain and Cryptocurrencies. One of the OG member of Infamous, Kill Joy possess a wide knowledge about same and I would love to see if he had shared any threads in private forum.

Blockonome - September 16, 2021, 3:21 pm

This is my application to Infamous:

I would like to join Infamous, as I see a lot of reputable members and I also do love the name colour. Let me start by saying that I am originally from Denmark and started as a Danish Pastry here on the forum. As time grew, I decided to change my name to "Rain" in Russian because I am studying Russian in my free time and also because I am always falling like rain.

I like this idea of the rain giving the trees a drink. Of course, trees need water to grow. But when we're saying the rain is giving the trees a drink, it feels like the rain is a gardener, taking care of its plants and ensuring the world's ecosystem is healthy and growing.

And that is what I see myself do, be someone who can support others in what they are doing and encouraging people to live by a standard. Another thing I like is Folklore, medieval history and paganism. That is why I decided to name my crew "Heresy" and based the userbar on Stonehenge.

Here on Hackforums, I am a mere small vendor selling services such as helping people find remote jobs, helping people with the first step into the digital nomad life. Running Heresy crew with countless giveaways within and outside the Crew. The original reason why I joined HF was because of Steganography, which I still practice in private. The original entry for Heresy Crew was to solve a steganography puzzle.

Crypto enthusiast with ideas to figure out ways to make passive income through staking, liquidity pools and currently helping other Danes with Crypto, in the shape of going from knowing nothing about Crypto to get the first foot in the door.

The last thing I would say I am very interested in, is development and persuasion. If I could say that I am proud of anything, it is the way that I can communicate with people. I would dare to say, no one is ever bored around me.

Life - September 20, 2021, 11:17 pm

Well, here goes nothing... ?

Who am I? I am 25, living in the land of Australia. I have known about Hack Forums for many many years... Only as the past few years have I become more active. Purely as I have recognized the great use this forum can have for an abundance of things. Not only is everyone on this forum I have directly spoken to incredibly kind, but also the talent a lot of members of this forum have is incredible. I am basically your average jo accessing Hack Forums daily and just browsing through content I feel like on the day and reply when necessary.

What I do? Well currently I am working in a factory, assembling steel house frames most days of the week. At nights and most weekends I am completing my studies (well trying to) as this job is only a few weeks old and I am having a little trouble fitting it in. But I love what I am studying and will push through to complete it.

What are my hobbies? I have a lot of hobbies, I tend to hop around from hobby to hobby as I feel drained from one. Probably the most obvious one would have to be gaming. I have been playing games (that I can remember) since the good old brick breaker & frustrating marble blast. This passion has never really fallen off or gotten old, I just do it less as I am interested in so many other things at the moment. Let me just name a few. I play guitar from time to time (I still suck at it) lmao, I love to repair electronics (such as phones, laptops, watches etc.) I build PC's for mates whenever asked as I just enjoy making them look pretty lol. I have recently gain an interest in crypto currency trading. I do also enjoy landscaping at home, have a nice lawn and comfortable backyard after a day at work with a cold beer does wonders for me.

Am I specialized in anything? Not currently, no. I am studying though as I mentioned before and that is an Information Technology Bachelor majoring in Programming. My goal for my future is to become a full stack developer. As I really enjoy the idea of it. (This is still very early days into my studies though)

Why am I applying? Honestly... Every time I jump on Hack Forums and browse around and see the userbar it just reminds me of how awesome it would be to have a place in this group. Not only because of that but every member is super high quality and I like to surround myself with good people to better myself. So wrapping it up. Thank you for taking the time to read through my application and enjoy the rest of your day! ?

Above was my old application from 2019. It always blows me away how much my opinion and mindset has changed since then, I've been on HF actively ever since I joined this forum. It is a deep addiction engrained into me, even when I have bouts of inactivity (What I consider not posting actively) I'll still login every day or other day like most inactive members do today. This place has influenced us all deeply over the years and I like to appreciate and embrace that which leads us to ways of trying to think of how we can still extend this influence to other members just now joining the forum.

Online Time:

Most of my time spent on HF here in the past few months is actively currency exchanging with giftcards, investing in OG Usernames, scanning threads for any interesting topics I can share my input on, trying to make friends, and brainstorming ideas on how we can share the greatness of HF with others. I also dedicate time to the other group I am in Lions League and the objectives we try to accomplish making HF a better place.

Overall my time online is 9 Months, 2 Weeks, 4 Days; which I'm sure you all have similar. Sometimes our activities can dwindle or boom based off a incoming trend but for some of us others I think we will always be here until this forum closes. Most of my ingroup conversations are based on what other members are up to and helping them achieve their goals also sharing my day to day problems, successes, and discussing things happening/planning for HF.

An addon of my thoughts on the state of HF

Spoiler (Click to View) While we can all love HF it is a new generation of users that will be joining with overall different interests, I think it would be unfair to try to stick as the ones who don't budge and "Miss the old HF/old HF day's were better". I have never agreed with that way of thinking and feel responsible for setting the example for new users to join and appreciate the community. I have some methodology trying to reach these new users by aiming for Sticky Threads, but I think it will require more than just that. We need to set the example by starting to share stuff users can learn. Unfortunately I don't learn too much these days on HF compared to other sources and I think it may be because we don't have enough outflow of informative actually VALUABLE threads for others to also take the example and want to share ontop due to it. I've gone through these stages of not posting anything informative but then I have to remind myself it takes one to start for others to follow, while I may not actually want to make the post myself I try to force myself.

I think we need to be creative and really learn as a group of members how to engage these new members joining and try to grab the HQ ones by targeting where they come in from. By this I mean a few things. For example lets say we have a lot of new members joining each day to see the ewhoring subforum to try to learn how to make some money doing that, but in alot of cases they will leave one post to receive a guide from a member and likely never return to the forum. It takes the critical thinking to sway your thread to entice these new members to click it and actually consider what is the best way to get them to return back to the forum to either share their results or continue asking questions/finding other valuable threads. One situation would be having it openable by them within a time limit or link, instead of waiting for the OP who posted it to PM them the information before they never come back. Or sharing other members valuable threads so they can start to see and be motivated to look around longer on the forum. Heck maybe even having a hidden keyword in the thread for the user to find to unlock the information will be alot more of a HQ user.

I have a few thoughts on this subject but things like this is what interests me on HF.

Offline Time:

Where things have really differed in my life when looking back at my 2019 application for Infamous is my offline lifestyle. Back then I still had similar ambitions for aiming to have a successful career but when seeing it now I can see how I was aiming for something I wouldn't be able to reach and by that I mean I knew what I wanted but not how to get it. Where I'm at now by seeing how I can get to the path where I want to be it has changed what I want.

In my original application I mentioned wanting to be the leader of every industry in service business and defining how I wanted my business to be hired out effectively not working in it but on it, but in reality that was all just a simplification to what I didn't see how business works. This is something I am always coming across in my changing opinions from previous times. Today I value freedom over anything. Freedom gives people the abilities to have what I think are the most important things in life; Family, Friends, and Choice to do anything your heart desires. In a lot of cases money unfortunately limits your ability to achieve this overall freedom, with that being said owning your own business is one of the few ways you can achieve this. I no longer do pressure washing like I did back then, I'm in a different industry working on scaling with a innovative approach that solves a problem providing value to my customers with the overall goal of franchising/chaining. Besides Family & Friends, I spend time researching and having fun working to reach freedom.

More about myself:

I don't think it's ever been easy for anyone to define themselves but I will share some of the values that I have that define the way I see things and how my mindset changes and also slowly solidifies.

When I think about what values define me the first three that come to mind would be Family, Books, and Technology.

Family is very very important to me and it sways a lot of decisions I make, my parents are both older and I've known from a very young age that they won't be here forever. I want to spend as much time as I can with them that I can, this includes doing business with them, living close to them, and actually making a effort to do these things. Most people don't realize but once you move out or away from your family you truly don't see them as often as you think; for example if you only see them on Holiday's and your parents only live 20 more years that just might be only 330 more days you'll spend with them and to me that is depressing. So I should also add my parents heavily influenced me and the person I am.

The second heavily influencing value to me is Books, I try to read as much as possible and this dictates most of my learning today. Wherever you find me you can probably find two books following behind. As I mentioned in my previous application I chose not to go the traditional university/college route and self educate myself everyday instead. I'm in the process of writing a mega thread on the importance of books which I'd like to share more of my opinions on, the more you know the more you can enjoy. :) This also ties into Technology which I have a love/hate relationship for. I avoid social media's like the plague and I want to spend more time offline to focus on living life but I'm still deeply tied to the internet and the communities you can find here. It's hard to accurately gauge how someone is based off their threads and posts especially when they try not to give out too much personal information but hopefully this might give you an insight on me. I do look forward to looking back at this post in 2 years either way.

Best of luck to everyone. I'm excited to see who is going to join this great group!

I'm Stanley HF's helper bot. This OP (original poster) of this thread wants everyone to see this page and has elected to bump it to the top of the showthread listing. Since HF doesn't want a ton of LQP (Low Quality Posts) this is the best method of bumping your content. There is a small ?yte fee for each bump. Any OP can bump any of their threads on HF from the linked icon on the top of their first post.

If you haven't already read the first post of this thread we encourage you to do so.

Thanks,
Stanley
