I think as we get older we stop getting scared as much. I remember seeing The Ring when I was 9, and that scared the shit out of me. Now it's also hard to scare me lol.

I dont know what it is, would you believe me if i say that i find scary movies really funny rather than scary?

Was this the Japanese or American release ? Because I can remember watching the Japanese one and it didn't scare me at all, I think different cultures are scared by different things ig if I were to reccomend you a movie would be The Descent, but obviously the mood can change alot, so watching it at daytime kinda kills the vibe, nighttime by yourself will be fine ?

I actually try to watch them at night with no lights and alone in my room. Idk what else i can do to make it affect me more.

Oh i havent see this one, it has to do with claustrophobia? Might be fun. I love tight places tho since i am cat ?

Imagine you're 3 weeks behind making your payments and you owe 5k to the local mob boss, Does that scare you ?

My field is actually cyber security so i can make myself invisible if i wanted to so not really. I trust my skills.

bk randy - August 29, 2021, 3:55 pm

I wish I could find the video.

There's one video from like the 90s of kids playing and a train passing and it zooms out and is like a similar scene but shows that the people are controlling it. I have no idea how to put it, it's very trippy, hard to wrap your head around, seems so innocent but is obviously some satanic like shit.

Scoppa - August 29, 2021, 5:43 pm

Same shit for horror movies. Well, the recent ones I mean.

Unpopular Opinions: horror movies back in 1995-2004 were so much better.

could've been you just built up a immune system from all these years.

-13 US Soldiers - August 29, 2021, 11:03 pm

do you know the game "clive barkers jericho"?

he's horrific

Stevensan - August 30, 2021, 5:16 am

The old Resident Evil on the PS1 does not scare me, but it gives me a shock reaction. The sound is soft then unexpected it gives you a hard sound when something happens. Silent Hill has an annoying sound.

Not an unpopular opinion at all, any films back then were better, there's a weird fake feeling to films nowadays I feel, especially Netflix released etc, the acting is terrible and there's never a good feeling about a film anymore.

I am not bragging. That's your interpretation. I actually WANT to be scared by a video, game, movie. I liked the feeling as a kid but now everything "scary" looks dumb to me. I also feel like i am the only one who is that way because everyone i interact with is not like this so i find it strange.

I want to know what people find scary in video games. Like do most people literally believe this is going to happenirl?

ok, well I hate to be the bearer of bad news but virtually no males above the age of 16 are scared of video games or movies are you kidding me? EVERYONE i know is scared of scary movies and stupid stuff.. Hell i was living with a dude 3 years ago (he is 30 now) who was waking me up whenever he was hearing weird sounds. He was literally terrified of ghosts lmao.

I also love the night, so i go to places with no lights and just lay down and look at the sky.. I am trying to bring other people with me but they are terrified and refuse.

I really enjoyed Phasmophobia. It still gets me sometimes.

Lyralei - August 31, 2021, 2:20 pm

That's okay, it's the same for me as well, I've used to watch a lot of horror films, and nowadays I judge a lot when watching these films instead of being scared, that said, I still get spooked if someone was to come up in front of me and scream randomly.

Afghanistan - August 31, 2021, 2:28 pm do you know "killing floor" ?

he's very terrifying

"dead space" too

FaberCastell - August 31, 2021, 2:53 pm

I think i really do want to see something supernatural. To a point that i wouldn't mind getting hurt for it. This is why i think i am not scared

Nate - September 2, 2021, 12:49 am

Lucky you I be getting scared, I haven't tried playing a horror game

You should go visit my mom and walk through her house with your shoes on. She'll scare the soul out of you.

mysteria1 - September 3, 2021, 7:52 am

Somehow I get scared really easily nowadays. I guess I got paranoid since I can't sleep in the darkness either, I gotta have some sort of light on. Does anyone have it like this too?

i used to when i was a kid, then i realized life is so boring and normal i would rather see something and die than nothing at all

Ke$h - September 3, 2021, 9:40 am

Not even a Stephen King novel would scare you?

Drake89 - September 5, 2021, 4:22 pm

A high quality member.....

Lindros - September 5, 2021, 5:05 pm

It doesn't simulate the real fear, like when you're getting arrested/about to be arrested by a police officer. Or having someone break into your house or something in the middle of the night if you're home alone. I'd imagine that would really kick the "flight or fight" into you.

siddy357 - September 6, 2021, 3:41 am as you grow old scary things don't bother much as you know what in the closet next.

hayesh - September 6, 2021, 10:16 am its the surprises and the jump scares that get me

Grim - September 6, 2021, 10:17 am i dont get scared as much as i just find it F*cking annoying but i wouldnt say scared. Also i never understood why people would choose that?

Dk4Q - September 6, 2021, 12:02 pm

Well I'm not scared sometimes but its probably cause I'm either too bored/sleepy or generally just don't care lol device - September 6, 2021, 4:07 pm

Watch reality TV shows, you'll shit your pants at the mere stupidity of these people.
