Thread: Cyber Security guy looking for a job

santi12 - September 6, 2021, 12:39 pm

Hey.

I'm looking for private projects, to help some people out in their projects or websites, give advices to newbies in whatever I can, for cash surely, i'm not willing to take cash as companies because I have a full time job but I got some free time during the days and weekends.

i'm working in cyber jobs irl, i'm able to learn what's needed, understand and get used fast as possible.

Courses and knowledge:

System and Network Practitioner Cyber Security Preparation in Security college (600 hours total) included:

Cisco, Linux, Microsoft, Checkpoint and basic's of python.

Basic knowledge of SQL, HTML and Python

Kali Linux (basic hacking, not high level, especially web)

Good understanding of VB.NET

windows applications

Experience in Vulnerability Analysis, Security Vulnerabilities/Web Security testing (few fiverr jobs and private testings/projects)

manual and tools

Investigation of basic security vulnerabilities

IP's, reasons why it happened, Investigation of firewalls, doxing, logs, infected files, doing full research on server/host and more

Good in DOXING, getting information using tools, manual and social engineering.

Familiar with darknet websites, proxies, vpn's, rdp's, sandbox's, doxing tools, carding, rats, fud's and more.

I can do alot of stuff, just let me know and we'll check it out.
