Thread: How Tidy Do You Keep Your Bedroom?

Blockonome - September 7, 2021, 4:10 pm

Hey guys,

How tidy do you keep your bedroom? Are you are clean individual that always cleans after himself or are you more the person that would leave 3 different plates on the table and walk through piles of clothes?

I am personally pretty clean about my bedroom and it always need to look neat n nice lol, otherwise I cannot focus in any way lol.

Let me hear how clean you are HF!

Joel - September 7, 2021, 4:13 pm

Mix of both although I never leave shit thats mine in other peoples spaces. Like plates etc. I always do the dishes for everyone.

hayesh - September 7, 2021, 4:18 pm

im in between but im closer to the 3 plates person than i am to the former hypothetical person

I--I - September 7, 2021, 4:18 pm

My room and house I keep clean and organized for the most part. It's my desk that gets all messed up [>-<]

I basically live at this desk so it tends to get pretty messy if I don't keep up with it everyday.

funtela - September 7, 2021, 4:28 pm

When I was single I was very tidy and clean. My wife isn't too organized so I kind of stopped stressing it.

N - September 7, 2021, 4:45 pm

I like my bedroom clean and organized.

Same for every other room in the crib.

ForBobo - September 7, 2021, 4:53 pm

my half is very neat and tidy, my girlfriend's half is the exact opposite lol. Just how we are. I definitely prefer things to be in order.

Mine has just one big pile. We just got new furniture for the room so she just picked up. But any time now that pile will be back.

I honestly like putting my junk away in my room because I cant work unless my room looks minimalist and clean but if im not doing work then Im okay with a little mess

I definitely go thru phases haha; we've got the depression phase & the motivated phase! When I'm in a normal/motivated phase, I'll keep my workspace and home in general pretty clean and tidy because it keeps me feeling good; however, when I'm having a shite week or two and I'm out all day, every day, it gets into an awful state hahaha

I feel that man. When I'm depressed and I finally start trying to get out of it, the first thing I do is start cleaning everything.

Yeah it helps a lot after days, weeks, or even months of neglect from feeling down and tired all the time :p

A + - September 7, 2021, 6:25 pm

I'm not really that messy. Other than the occasional water bottles that pile up, I make my bed every morning and open the window and spray air freshener when I smoke. Maybe vacuum once a month and dust whenever it starts piling up.

Fuck making the bed, I don't know how you do that every morning. I used to do it until I got my own place. Now I have like 5 pillows and 8 blankets just piled on it.

SIM-3467872 - September 7, 2021, 7:13 pm

SIM-3387369 - September 7, 2021, 8:03 pm

My room looks pretty tidy idk

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Rompow - September 7, 2021, 10:05 pm

I tend to keep it really clean, but I do have periods of time where my focus is entirely on one thing, and I neglect my surroundings. It's easy to keep a clean room aside from that. Just don't leave things to the next day because that's how a little mess turns into something off an episode of Horders.

Lindros - September 8, 2021, 3:01 am

I'm clean but I leave clothes on the floor. My gf usually handles it and in return I work on her car and stuff like that.

Lorem Ipsum - September 8, 2021, 3:04 am

Very tidy. I can't stand a messy bedroom for too long.

And for the daily dosage of weird videos;

device - September 8, 2021, 3:09 am

Usually a mess until I clean it, not dirty but messy. I do a big clean once a week.

HOMODIN - September 8, 2021, 3:42 am

I'm the clean kind, same goes for my bathroom n shower, always nice n neat. On some rare occasions I can have a coffee cup on the table beside my bed if I for what ever reason have to rush out...this has happened a few times due to me forgetting meetings/classes and then there's the classic daylight saving thing that is on Sundays yes but yeah, if you don't go out nor use ur phone that much then you can miss it :D

LegitCashMoney - September 8, 2021, 11:43 am

I'm way too messy tbh. I only clean up very well when I have visitors coming over. But sometimes I am clean without it. Hopefully in the future I will be more so.

?ystem - September 8, 2021, 10:39 pm

Oh God, religiously tidy. Bed made with blankets and pillows orientated evenly, even of similar shade. The hardwood floors free of soil or dust, wall decor evenly hung and spaced.

Brotha I love to have a clean and real tidy bedroom but when you got 2 kids that are messing around I guess it will be hard to maintain your room the way you wanted to be lol

Top notch clean. When your roommate is an interior designer it has to be tidy all the time. She cleans ofc..

Shaman - September 10, 2021, 9:18 am its very important to clean your room/bed everyday. it all begins with the small steps

Pyro - October 14, 2021, 12:58 am on a scale 1-10 where 10 is super clean, most of the times is 5-6-7, and then it gets to a point where im doing all the cleaning and shit

siddy357 - October 14, 2021, 1:04 am

It should have to be the cleanest room in my apartment.

Vibe - October 14, 2021, 1:05 am

I got piles of clean clothes maybe couple water bottles

Lindros - October 14, 2021, 1:06 am

My room is fine I guess. Things are organized relatively speaking. The biggest thing is I usually have some clothes on the floor. That's about it.

Kaiba Corp - October 14, 2021, 2:02 am

Somewhere in the middle.

Very clean and tidy because kinda small.

But there's gonna be Atleast 2 used glasses on the night stand, it's inevitable.

fenompls - October 14, 2021, 2:06 am

I feel more focused whenever my room is messy for some odd reason

[(5)] - October 14, 2021, 2:24 am

I'd say I'm a semi organized, but overall clean person. I don't like dirt or dust, but don't mind if I put something back in a different spot from where I took it.

grainy - October 14, 2021, 3:42 am clean it up every week or so, always a mess inbetween.

L1l DuRk - October 14, 2021, 8:54 am

I like my bedroom tidy, in such a way that the moment I get up from my bed I lay it, my clothes are properly arrange just the when my friends come around for 2-3 days it a thug of war.

Cyam - October 14, 2021, 8:57 am

I'm in between. I clean up my room once every 2-3 days, but it can become a mess before that.

Mostly clothes on my bed that I put on my chair when I'm sleeping and cups/plates on my table. It never gets TOO messy though as I wouldn't tolerate that blackrose_x0x0 - October 14, 2021, 9:22 am

I clean my room up fully about once a week on one of my days off. I do the same for my car. I also do a major deep clean about twice a year, usually once in the spring and another in the Fall, so it's about time for that.

I keep my room relatively clean but I do need to reorganize some things soon. I really need to reorganize my clothes in the drawers and do some dusting near the window.

Sigma - October 14, 2021, 10:01 am

I cannot stand mess or stains at all so I keep it as clean as possible.

I'm usually relatively clean and organized (usually) although there's those days where i don't do my bed, or organize some jackets/clothing laying around, and maybe leave some other things laying about that I've used prior. But honestly my gf usually always took care of everything and only made me be responsible for my stinky shoes being properly stored away and taken care of (got these little smelly-cleaning-balls thingys that we put in our shoes when not in use to help keep them fresh) along with this spray. Also just making sure to NEVER EVER leave food laying out and about in the bedroom, because thats just nasty ofc.

But yea otherwise, pretty neat haha

Yin Yang - October 14, 2021, 10:50 am

It's somewhat clean. But I don't do the whole 'make your bed' after waking up lol

Net - October 14, 2021, 11:45 am

It isn't spotless, but it also isn't dirty. I try to keep as little things as I can in my room, trying to maintain a minimalistic lifestyle.

Nate - October 14, 2021, 11:46 am

Its somewhat neat, I do have some clothes laying around but thats mainly because I use them for pajamas and shit later on in the night

Envy - October 14, 2021, 11:47 am

Room is mostly clean, at most times. It's probably the only area I can't stand being messy, and the kitchen lol.

Jinu - October 14, 2021, 11:51 am

I used to keep my bedroom neat and clean. I can't sleep with three plates in the bedroom. "Thighs should be where it should be" type of person.

Prettykitty - October 14, 2021, 12:06 pm

I keep it simple, although the table is a bit cluttered, I like to clean the room regularly.

In college I think that being a messy man is part of the experience, I don't have time to keep cleaning and making sure my room is clean. However, I guess it could also be depression based that I don't have the energy to exert to clean my room. Still, even with a messy room I'm able to keep up with my assignments and term papers etc.

Nostre - October 30, 2021, 9:05 pm

My bedroom is in good shape, my GF handles all the cleaning though. If she didn't, I would have empty water bottles all around. I actually found a empty water bottle that was under my bed, most likely there for a couple weeks.

Sayid - October 30, 2021, 11:37 pm

I'd say I keep my space pretty clean, but at times I'll accumulate a shit ton of water bottles on my desk, that's fairly messy.

This is my exact method, though I usually wait much longer than 2 weeks.

SIM-5049184 - December 6, 2021, 7:21 pm

It scales and changes depending on how swamped with work I am on the current day, if im busy I'll get my stuff done before cleaning it. However, it does decently upset me when its too dirty so I'll just give up and clean it all

Simon77 - December 7, 2021, 6:17 am

I'm of the first type, I always make sure my house is clean and organized because if it isn't then I just can't seem to figure out what to do, like literally I won't even know what time is it and what stuff do I have to do and so on.... it's weird but yeah.

BUT sometimes it's the opposite, I'm just minding my business and dont even care about the tidiness lol

Both my wife and I are kinda germaphobes, so usually we're pretty good about keeping the place clean, even it's not always tidy. I do make the bed every day though, it annoys the eff out of me when people don't make their bed, coz WHY? It takes about 2.5 seconds, and is so much nicer.
