Thread: Where is \(DOT\) Headed?

Do any of you follow this? I am very close to dumping money in on this project.

Voxi - September 11, 2021, 2:34 am

I did put some money in but pulled it out with a little bit of profit due to the dump last night but didn't really dump too much. Ying Yang has gotten me on DOT and I am tempted to buy back in.

The problem is it has to go to $100+ to be worth the investment sitting at $29 a coin.

That is unless you have $10,000 to invest for very quick profits. What is the expectancy of this coin??

It will crash just another fake hype. You might make profit if you get in before the crash 20k in movr and 5k in dot.

I believe KSM, DOT and MOVR will take the upperhand in this market. DYOR

Update: I just got out with my original investment at $500. Still in it with my profit.

I'm in DOT and allocated about about 20% of my portfolio towards it. I also recently got in Reef too, but didn't buy the other projects mentioned.

I like DOT, it's a top 10 project. And isn't directly trying to compete with ETH like most of the hype BS. Enabling interoperability between chains is a great use case.
