Thread: What internet speeds do you have? I finally had a fiber line installed in my town.

Java - October 7, 2021, 5:14 am

I've had slow internet for as long as I can remember. Recently I had a fiber line installed in my town. The change is so nice.

The change is nice, I'm able to download updates way faster. Things that used to take an hour+ now take a few minutes.

What kind of internet speeds do you have?

I get about 500Mbps down and 100ish up and I pay 0 because I work for an ISP lol

The speeds have accelerated quite a lot here in the UK.

I've had gigabit internet at home for a long time now. Been fortunate in that connectivity has never been an issue where we've lived. It's actually a shock to me any time I end up somewhere with markedly slower speeds.

jecoylecroy - October 7, 2021, 7:30 am

My internet speed is about 100kbps ?. Im only using mobile broadband.

About 60 a month for unlimited everything.

False King - October 7, 2021, 8:37 am

Fiber is awesome. Back when I used to live with my mother, we only had the old connection (even though fiber was in the house, my mom just didn't want to change it). Once I went on my own, I directly ordered one of the quickest fiber connections.

And this is over WiFi, not even cable.

Why is it so slow? For fiber, that's not that good. I don't think I can get speeds that slow with the fiber line, the company doesn't offer it.

DuffySavage - October 7, 2021, 8:38 am

So fast, sometimes it hits 20. This is with a cable.

I used to have the same ages ago, like 800kb/s download lmao. I download a lot of blurays and other large files at a comfy 30-50Mb/s so I can't complain, still fast and always have the option to go 1000/1000.

Hahaha, I can check if you're close to getting the nationwide fibre upgrade but that's about it, unfortunately.

I went from getting 80 (or 300Mbps from TrashMedia) to 250 and now I'm supposed to get 900 but at the moment I get about 500.

Cooligan - October 7, 2021, 9:32 am

Beherit - October 7, 2021, 9:33 am

That's awesome. I currently have 250mbps down, and 23mbps up. It's not bad, but I'll definitely upgrade maybe next year.

Prettykitty - October 7, 2021, 10:13 am

They have fiber in my neighbourhood but I can't justify the price. I upgraded from 15 mbps to 150 mbps, I get around 200-250 down and 15 up now.

800 download and about 60 upload. I'm grateful because I used to live in the country where the max I could get was 6 download.

I think that's still above the national average and would still allow you to do p. much everything easily.

I agree. I wish this would have been an option all along.

I know the pain for sure.

I'm not sure why an ISP decided to invest in a fiber line in my city, it's not even that dense here. I suppose they are just trying to gain market share.

I got super lucky for sure.

Bro I hate my internet so much it's terrible here

nenadv - October 21, 2021, 12:13 am

200 mbit down, 15 up

i can get 1000 down 100 up for only 5 euroes more but i dont really need it

LeetSpeed - October 21, 2021, 12:19 am

I'm stuck on a 100Mbps line right now.

Goku - October 21, 2021, 1:10 am

When I lived with my mom, I encouraged her to get 200mbs since we got fiberglass (for free). Now that I live on my own, this place is shit, it got 50mbs speed and I need to share it with others... I asked the renter so many times to upgrade it, but no budge.

I know so many people in this thread would love to have the option to get 1k up and 100 down for 5 more a month.

I suppose I see why you wouldn't need the extra speeds, but I would definitely upgrade if I had that option.

Nice. I download stuff all day, so It's worth the next money to get faster speeds. just to save time.

Kittenz4life - October 24, 2021, 12:16 pm

So on my wifi I have 340mps download and 18mps upload. I think we pay $60 a month

fenompls - October 24, 2021, 12:20 pm

I have like a basic 150up/150down package

LeetSpeed - October 24, 2021, 12:33 pm

I'm looking to get a dual 10Gbit fiber line once I get my new place.

shitmaster - October 25, 2021, 7:26 am

I have 300 down and 100 up. It was only recently in my country too for fibre to arrive. Just 2 years++ back the prices were revised and made cheaper. I used to use 30 mbps which was shit as I couldn't even stream 4k. I'm planning to upgrade to 1 GB maybe in the next year.

account_ - October 25, 2021, 7:30 am

Currently on 73Mbs not that good compared to other users here.

Hilfiger - October 25, 2021, 7:34 am

I get 600 mbps or so. I get spikes to 800 sometimes.

Nostre - October 25, 2021, 7:55 am

Mine used to be 180/180 but now it is 40/40. I stopped gaming so I don't really need the upload speed anymore.

Yeah I think gaming was the biggest reason why I had an insane Internet speed. Ever since I stopped double digits is more than enough.

Blogger - October 25, 2021, 9:54 am

I just got a new service, fiber I believe.

Ninja - October 30, 2021, 6:53 am

150 Mbps. Not the fastest but it's fast enough for me.

Allelujah - October 30, 2021, 6:56 am

I get 50 down and 30 up. This is THE fastest internet I've ever had. I pay around $80 just for internet.

I download and upload stuff constantly, so the faster internet is a nice time saver.

That's better than what I used to have. Do you live in a rural area?

You're paying more for that than I pay for fiber.

popZmoke - October 30, 2021, 9:20 am

Lol just tried mine at speedtest and I got:

Ping: 3ms

Speed: 416mbps

Upload: 926mbps

didn't even know i had this much lol

baka~ - October 30, 2021, 9:49 am

Slow internet speeds kills me everytime I use them. I can't stand it.

I have around 200-200 now but used to have 600-600. It's still fine but anything under 100up/down kills me lol.

I have around 100 download on my phone because of 5g when it available.

Damn wtf your upload speed crazy

fredo - October 30, 2021, 10:29 am

Thought I had decent speeds but some of these replies humbled me greatly

Bench Press - October 30, 2021, 2:32 pm

I have about 500 up 500 down, it's totally unnecessary.

Moruq - October 30, 2021, 4:16 pm

I get around 90Mbps download. I live with it
