Hello, I had crypto stolen from my Trust Wallet do you know if there is a way to get back what was stolen from me, I have the address my money was sent to. Thanks in advance guys

Lindros - October 14, 2021, 2:32 am

No. There is probably no way you can recover your funds. Blockchain makes that virtually impossible. Sorry you had your funds stolen.

Dopamine - October 14, 2021, 2:53 am

Take the L for the next time... sorry for your loss OP

L1l DuRk - October 14, 2021, 3:10 am

I think it impossible to get your funds back and next time you should have 2factor auth activated.

Rowbinch - October 14, 2021, 3:19 am

Thank you very much for your answers, how's the person. You know how the person could find my passphrase knowing that I never shared it with anyone. Could it be possible that a site I logged into with my wallet was hacked without me realizing it?

Did you write it in the notepad/word and saved on your PC?

Like others said? There is nothing to do in order to get back your money. Cryptocurrencies are not some controlled valuta, like USD. If it was your USD in the bank, the government could recover it, but no one controls the cryptos.

Unfortunately you can't, make sure to use every security options available to you when you create your next wallet.

Koyote - October 14, 2021, 3:56 am

Unfortunately, like others have said, it's pretty much lost now. The best thing to do would be report everything you can about it, document where the crypto has gone, and try to flag addresses on sites.

Depending on where you had your wallet hosted, if it was a hot wallet, maybe the provider can help you out with finding some answers?

Once it's gone, it's gone.... You can't do nothing. I'd highly recommend you to stop using Hot Wallets and buy a cold wallet such as Ledger, Trazor or Safepal. A bit expensive but it's definitely worth it.

siddy357 - October 14, 2021, 5:28 am funds once moved from your wallet can not be retrieved in most cases.

Sigma - October 14, 2021, 5:35 am

Not when it comes to Crypto.

Rowbinch - October 14, 2021, 5:48 am

Thanks for reply.

Isn't there a way to find the passphrase for the account of the guy who stole my tokens, that I give him the change in his coin?

Vibe - October 14, 2021, 5:49 am

Unless you make them send it back no

Sorry to hear that buddy but its gone. But next time post in the correct section to avoid receiving warnings, or deletion of your thread!

You'll also get better answers when done, but good luck with your situation

Prettykitty - October 14, 2021, 12:23 pm

I can relate.. I got scammed all of my crypto too, I think there's no way to get them back, really.

KimJO - October 14, 2021, 12:47 pm

It's obvious that your funds are gone. Sorry...

Maxorg - October 14, 2021, 1:15 pm

Sorry for your loss OP. Unfortunately, you won't be able to recover that crypto unless the person sends it back.

Are you talking about jacking a 24-key passphrase from him then blackmailing him to get your money back?

lol. Good luck.

oRequiem - October 14, 2021, 2:47 pm

From what I know is that you're not seeing that again.

Eran - October 14, 2021, 2:51 pm

I'd personally save my energy and give up on it. I learned it the hard way. Sorry for the loss!

Not really, next time secure your funds better, it's a definite must, live and learn but your chances of getting it back is about 0%.

I agree with this, how much did you actually lose?

Yanix - October 14, 2021, 7:31 pm

Oh so sorry for the lost maybe you should just take a lot of extra care and securities for your wallet.

xPower - October 14, 2021, 7:47 pm

Sorry to hear this OP but you can't get it back. Lesson learned for next time. Wallet security is crucial.

Louis Vuitton - October 14, 2021, 10:30 pm

Unfortunately I think not friend, Good luck tho
