

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: How High You Can Speculate Market Cap of Bitcoin ? \$100T

CyberError - October 14, 2021, 10:41 pm

As The Title Says, How High You Think Bitcoin Market Cap can Go ? 1 Trillion is Already Huge For A Asset, But Since Most Of Us Believe btc is better asset than gold can we speculate it it's market cap to be more then gold (11T) ?

I Personally Cant Image BTC being More Then 10-15T$ M.C , What Do You Think ?

Proxied - October 15, 2021, 12:06 am

If the United States one day becomes a cashless society, I believe cryptocurrency will go through the roof.

We can only guess what the future brings I suppose.

Javier Martinez Lopez - October 15, 2021, 12:35 am

In my country, Spain, the bitcoin phenomenon has not reached the masses/majority of the population (guess Europe is nearly same). There are only a few gurus day traders with a sad 100€ in ETH or ADA (it's something I've never understood, people who spend hours tracking prices with so little money in)

The Spanish press (bought by socialism lobby) said to the population that BTC is a pyramid scam. People just repeats like a parrot that is an scam like "Fórum Filatélico" (search on wikipedia, its interesting). The only legitimate investment in this country has been housing (And that before. When the banks gift you the money, without minimum requirements and at 10% TAE comission) The population-demographic gauss bell will end with that brick financial product. Banks have been since 2008 without giving interest APR. The spanish IBEX stocks, who te fuck puts money there? Raw materials, currencies and ETF's are boring. Whoever wants to save and safeguard their money from all this socialist cancer, can only buy BTC and plant tomatoes.

As soon as banks start selling BTC as a stable financial product and with easy-to-enter methods (let's be honest, currently it is not very easy), BTC will have no roof.

If Elon Musk's tweets have shown anything, it's that we are early adopters.

xVulnerable - October 15, 2021, 3:18 am

I was literally thinking exactly about this just yesterday....and It feels like that we are not really as early as people think they are to make profits with BTC, we are quite late to the party actually.

Gold marketcap is $11T. Btc could definitely beat that, but that's only a 10x gain, which is not much for cryptos.

This unfortunately means that to see those 100x gains people are used to seeing, BTC will need to have a 100T$ marketcap and a value of $5m.

Not saying this is not possible, but I think if we want those x100 gains, lower cap coins like SOL, DOT, ADA etc stand a better chance.

How many times had BTC done a 10x since created? Countless.

How many 10x gains does BTC have left? Probably not much. 1,2 maybe 3 times at the max?

Tommie R - October 15, 2021, 5:42 am

(Oct 15, 2021 03:18 AM)xVulnerable Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I was literally thinking exactly about this just yesterday....and It feels like that we are not really as early as people think they are to make profits with BTC, we are quite late to the party actually.

Gold marketcap is $11T. Btc could definitely beat that, but that's only a 10x gain, which is not much for cryptos.

This unfortunately means that to see those 100x gains people are used to seeing, BTC will need to have a 100T$ marketcap and a value of $5m.

Not saying this is not possible, but I think if we want those x100 gains, lower cap coins like SOL, DOT, ADA etc stand a better chance.

How many times had BTC done a 10x since created? Countless.

How many 10x gains does BTC have left? Probably not much. 1,2 maybe 3 times at the max?

Lol imagine not being fazed by a 100x ...

Porn - October 15, 2021, 5:57 am

Total market cap of all assets including gold, BTC, ETH, apple, microsoft, google, etc is $95T.

We might live to see bitcoin surpass gold's $11T market cap but we won't live to see it reach $100T.

Recon12345 - October 15, 2021, 6:27 am

Maybe with inflation MAYBE just MAYBE 5T-10T area? And that's in 5-10 years? Depends on what will happen in the world as well ofc.

Omniscient - October 15, 2021, 11:16 am

BTC $100T market cap is an absolute certainty. It must reach that number to fulfill the goals it had since Satoshi released the Whitepaper and mined the Genesis Block. My guess is by 2030.

Now you might think $100T is a lot of money. But consider inflation. Consider how governments spend. Consider the mass amounts of wealth in the world. Consider that Bitcoin is going to be the main method of wealth storing and exchanging.

I think it's weird that people don't see this as a certainty. It's just inevitable. It's like driving down the highway and knowing where it leads. BTC $60k is cheap as fugg.

Xerotic - October 15, 2021, 11:17 am

I don't have any prediction for the potential market cap of BTC... but rather I ask a different question: Are the potential earnings (%) from BTC/crypto greater than traditional investment strategies. I don't need BTC to 100x. Even if the average yearly change was 1.5x that's still 50% yearly earnings which is a great long-term investment.

Maskin - October 15, 2021, 11:55 am

(Oct 15, 2021 11:16 AM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) BTC $100T market cap is an absolute certainty. It must reach that number to fulfill the goals it had since Satoshi released the Whitepaper and mined the Genesis Block. My guess is by 2030.

Now you might think $100T is a lot of money. But consider inflation. Consider how governments spend. Consider the mass amounts of wealth in the world. Consider that Bitcoin is going to be the main method of wealth storing and exchanging.

I think it's weird that people don't see this as a certainty. It's just inevitable. It's like driving down the highway and knowing where it leads. BTC $60k is cheap as fugg.

You're that bullish? $100T by 2030, I wouldn't mind that. I'll still be "young" by then.

onmyway - October 15, 2021, 12:27 pm

(Oct 15, 2021 11:17 AM)Xerotic Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't have any prediction for the potential market cap of BTC... but rather I ask a different question: Are the potential earnings (%) from BTC/crypto greater than traditional investment strategies. I don't need BTC to 100x. Even if the average yearly change was 1.5x that's still 50% yearly earnings which is a great long-term investment.
ETH made around 800% year

Yin Yang - October 15, 2021, 12:51 pm

I'm over here just waiting for 5T. 100T would be crazy just to think about.

Omniscient - October 15, 2021, 1:22 pm

Gonna have some fun with showing you what Bitcoin has been doing these past few years in a 5 year range for increase in value.

Jan 2014 -> 2019 $700 -> $3500 7x
Jan 2015 -> 2020 $250 -> $9500 40x
Jan 2016 -> 2021 $400 -> $40,000 100x

Blazin - October 15, 2021, 1:50 pm

(Oct 15, 2021 01:22 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Gonna have some fun with showing you what Bitcoin has been doing these past few years in a 5 year range for increase in value.

Jan 2014 -> 2019 $700 -> $3500 7x
Jan 2015 -> 2020 $250 -> $9500 40x
Jan 2016 -> 2021 $400 -> $40,000 100x

Yeah, it's insane what bitcoin has been able to do. The government can't really stop it either. ?

Omniscient - October 15, 2021, 2:28 pm

(Oct 15, 2021 01:50 PM)Blazin Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah, it's insane what bitcoin has been able to do. The government can't really stop it either. ?

Yup. ETF incoming. That could easily push BTC into $100k+ territory.

Most people I discuss crypto with say they are worried or believe that the government is going to ban it. I try to explain to them that they can't but they look at me confused as if the government is so powerful that it would seem impossible to defy their regulation powers.

Bitcoin $1m USD will happen. I think when BTC hits $200-300k people will overall finally believe. They will realize it's just a 3-5x to reach $1m from that point. Next halvening should do it.

Blazin - October 15, 2021, 2:33 pm

(Oct 15, 2021 02:28 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yup. ETF incoming. That could easily push BTC into $100k+ territory.

Most people I discuss crypto with say they are worried or believe that the government is going to ban it. I try to explain to them that they can't but they look at me confused as if the government is so powerful that it would seem impossible to defy their regulation powers.

Bitcoin $1m USD will happen. I think when BTC hits $200-300k people will overall finally believe. They will realize it's just a 3-5x to reach $1m from that point. Next halvening should do it.

I'm with you on that one. It will reach 1M, it's not a matter of "IF" but "When" They can regulate it all they want, like in China, people are still going to use it. 100k shouldn't be too long from now and from there it will grow even more.

Omniscient - October 15, 2021, 2:41 pm

Putin's latest words...

<https://nypost.com/2021/10/14/vladimir-putin-says-crypto-has-value-but-cant-be-used-in-oil-trade/>

He is literally talking about using Bitcoin for giant Oil trades. Do you guys realize how huge Bitcoin is going to be when conglomerates, global corporations, and governments all use Bitcoin for settlement instead of US Dollar or Gold? This is what I have predicted for many years. To facilitate global trade Bitcoin MUST be worth $1m+ and eventually a $100T market cap.

How do you not see the writing on the wall when even Putin talks like that. Putin btw has also banned Bitcoin in the past just like how China has done so now. Then they realize they can't stop it and reverse their decision so they don't look like powerless asses. Then these clowns talk about regulation, but it's basically just talk because they can hardly regulate it. These people see what is happening. That Bitcoin is going to take over their monetary policy and that their printed currency isn't worth the paper it's being printed on.

Get on board, get your Bitcoin, or get left behind.

Tommie R - October 15, 2021, 4:03 pm

(Oct 15, 2021 03:12 PM)Focus Broken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Bitcoin's market cap will absorb the stock market and real estate market. These are all inflated because people are forced to speculate in assets and equities as opposed to just holding money, thanks to currency debasement. It will also absorb the monetary premium of the gold market, reducing it to only its metallic purposes.

Where's the clap emoji? Seriously though, precisely this. You should watch Peter Schiff's debate; it's hilarious "bbbbbut gold has intrinsic value!!"

If you look at all the broad markets and do the math, Bitcoin can reach a $100+ trillion market, and I don't think it's going to take as long as people think to get there -- the world is evolving exponentially. The shift to sound money will happen.

Whoever gets it, gets it. Watch early adopters who put in the time get rich ?

Omniscient - October 15, 2021, 4:10 pm

(Oct 15, 2021 04:03 PM)Tommie R Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If you look at all the broad markets and do the math, Bitcoin can reach a $100+ trillion market, and I don't think it's going to take as long as people think to get there -- the world is evolving exponentially. The shift to sound money will happen.

It's just 100x from the market today which Bitcoin did just the past 5 years. In Oct 2016 BTC was $600-$700.

So easy to see that Bitcoin will have that market cap. What I don't understand is all the toying around in portfolios looking at alt asking "what's the next Bitcoin which will 100x". Well, it's Bitcoin! Duh...

Everyone who has and holds at least 1 Bitcoin will never have financial problems.

Tommie R - October 15, 2021, 4:20 pm

(Oct 15, 2021 04:10 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It's just 100x from the market today which Bitcoin did just the past 5 years. In Oct 2016 BTC was $600-$700.

So easy to see that Bitcoin will have that market cap. What I don't understand is all the toying around in portfolios looking at alt asking "what's the next Bitcoin which will 100x". Well, it's Bitcoin! Duh...

Everyone who has and holds at least 1 Bitcoin will never have financial problems.

Yes. It's funny to see altcoin supporters leave comments like, "Nano is much faster! Cheap transactions! Bitcoin is like MySpace; it's slow and old."

In essence, they have a shallow understanding of Bitcoin. For those not knowledgeable in economics or technology, it takes dozens of hours to understand Bitcoin truly.

I never hear someone say, "I spent 100+ hours on Bitcoin, and I still don't like it" -- the ones that do are in support of it except for when there's malintent (China).

People who boil it down to "Bitcoin is Blockbuster, Alts are Netflix" should learn more about Bitcoin's technology. They're going to pay for those misconceptions years down the line and turn into bitter stories of "I had 0.5 Bitcoin in 2021"

Omniscient - October 15, 2021, 4:39 pm

(Oct 15, 2021 04:20 PM)Tommie R Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes. It's funny to see altcoin supporters leave comments like, "Nano is much faster! Cheap transactions! Bitcoin is like MySpace; it's slow and old."

In essence, they have a shallow understanding of Bitcoin. For those not knowledgeable in economics or technology, it takes dozens of hours to understand Bitcoin truly.

I never hear someone say, "I spent 100+ hours on Bitcoin, and I still don't like it" -- the ones that do are in support of it except for when there's malintent (China).

People who boil it down to "Bitcoin is Blockbuster, Alts are Netflix" should learn more about Bitcoin's technology. They're going to pay for those misconceptions years down the line and turn into bitter stories of "I had 0.5 Bitcoin in 2021"

Think on this. $1000 worth of Bitcoin is about .162 Bitcoin. If BTC hits $1m USD that will be $162,000. Why people don't hold Bitcoin I can never understand.

Xerotic - October 15, 2021, 4:44 pm

(Oct 15, 2021 12:27 PM)onmyway Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) ETH made around 800% year

Exactly. Crypto has been outperforming traditional investments by leaps and bounds. We don't need 100x, we just need better-than-average gains. But 100x would still be nice.

BalloonsAreFun - October 15, 2021, 6:03 pm

I'd have better luck guessing the number on roulette.

funtela - October 15, 2021, 9:06 pm

(Oct 15, 2021 02:41 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Putin's latest words...

<https://nypost.com/2021/10/14/vladimir-putin-says-crypto-has-value-but-cant-be-used-in-oil-trade/>

He is literally talking about using Bitcoin for giant Oil trades. Do you guys realize how huge Bitcoin is going to be when conglomerates, global corporations, and governments all use Bitcoin for settlement instead of US Dollar or Gold? This is what I have predicted for many years. To facilitate global trade Bitcoin MUST be worth $1m+ and eventually a $100T market cap.

How do you not see the writing on the wall when even Putin talks like that. Putin btw has also banned Bitcoin in the past just like how China has done so now. Then they realize they can't stop it and reverse their decision so they don't look like powerless asses. Then these clowns talk about regulation, but it's basically just talk because they can hardly regulate it. These people see what is happening. That Bitcoin is going to take over their monetary policy and that their printed currency isn't worth the paper it's being printed on.

Get on board, get your Bitcoin, or get left behind.

Wow, that's pretty incredible. I'm glad I moved my ETH investment into BTC. I'm waiting to break even on LTC to do the same.

Maskin - October 15, 2021, 9:27 pm

(Oct 15, 2021 09:06 PM)funtela Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Wow, that's pretty incredible. I'm glad I moved my ETH investment into BTC. I'm waiting to break even on LTC to do the same.

Don't forget that BTC/LTC value might not go in your favour. You could break even on LTC in fiat value but still end up with less BTC than if you did the swap now.

CyberError - October 15, 2021, 11:58 pm

(Oct 15, 2021 03:18 AM)xVulnerable Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I was literally thinking exactly about this just yesterday....and It feels like that we are not really as early as people think they are to make profits with BTC, we are quite late to the party actually.

Gold marketcap is $11T. Btc could definitely beat that, but that's only a 10x gain, which is not much for cryptos.

This unfortunately means that to see those 100x gains people are used to seeing, BTC will need to have a 100T$ marketcap and a value of $5m.

Not saying this is not possible, but I think if we want those x100 gains, lower cap coins like SOL, DOT, ADA etc stand a better chance.

How many times had BTC done a 10x since created? Countless.

How many 10x gains does BTC have left? Probably not much. 1,2 maybe 3 times at the max?

Dude the 100x mindset is so wrong

btc have GOOD chance of doing 10x or low-med chance of doing 100x

but those small coin like dot have more risk

a great chance of 10x is better than slim to none chance of 100x and 10x isn't really bad at all

(Oct 15, 2021 02:41 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Putin's latest words...

<https://nypost.com/2021/10/14/vladimir-putin-says-crypto-has-value-but-cant-be-used-in-oil-trade/>

He is literally talking about using Bitcoin for giant Oil trades. Do you guys realize how huge Bitcoin is going to be when conglomerates, global corporations, and governments all use Bitcoin for settlement instead of US Dollar or Gold? This is what I have predicted for many years. To facilitate global trade Bitcoin MUST be worth $1m+ and eventually a $100T market cap.

How do you not see the writing on the wall when even Putin talks like that. Putin btw has also banned Bitcoin in the past just like how China has done so now. Then they realize they can't stop it and reverse their decision so they don't look like powerless asses. Then these clowns talk about regulation, but it's basically just talk because they can hardly regulate it. These people see what is happening. That Bitcoin is going to take over their monetary policy and that their printed currency isn't worth the paper it's being printed on.

Get on board, get your Bitcoin, or get left behind.
I strongly agree with this point, countries don't want to use "US dollar " anymore for global trade they need something decentralize and what else better than BTC

(Oct 15, 2021 09:06 PM)funtela Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Wow, that's pretty incredible. I'm glad I moved my ETH investment into BTC. I'm waiting to break even on LTC to do the same.
ETH still a Huge EcoSystem You Cant Ignore

Omniscient - October 16, 2021, 9:52 am

Quote:countries don't want to use "US dollar " anymore for global trade they need something decentralize and what else better than BTC Countries need the volume. When BTC hits maybe a $5T market cap then it will be there. When BTC hits $10T+ that's when it gets interesting because it's not very likely that BTC will have much downward volatility after that.

Quote:ETH still a Huge EcoSystem You Cant Ignore

Agreed. I'd hold ETH as well. Fundamentally it's BTC, ETH, ADA, and LTC right now. Strange to see LTC drop to #18 imho. Shiba Inu has passed it on the chart. Cardano just has the momentum and play. More so than DOT or SOL imho.