Thread: Any apps to mine crypto from my phone? littleblueguy24 - October 21, 2021, 5:08 am

Like the title says I've got some phones and wouldn't mind some mining on them and would like to know what/when/if/how this is viable.

There are only scams sadly, a phone doesn't have the power to mine anything.

There are scams like PI Network and bee or bumblebee something that you don't even mine per se you CLOUD mine which is a scam that doesn't make sense anyway...

Sadly you can't mine on phone.

Of course you can mine with a phone. But it's nowhere near profitable or worth it.

I don't know any apps. All I know is that you can create one and mine whatever you want.

I posted this video a while back, someone is mining BTC with a gameboy. You can easily do the same with a phone or playstation too if you want to.

If you dont mind mining 1 cent a day with a flagship phone. This question is equal to asking can I lawn mow with a scissor? Of course you can, if you want to take 20hours to finish.

This guy just giving ya fake hope guys.

Yes you can mine with a phone but you would need the latest iphone to mine if lucky 1 cent a day. So yes indeed you can mine with a phone but at the same time you can't. Because who tf would use a 1000$ phone to mine for crap profit/day?

pubgmobilecheat - October 21, 2021, 10:17 am

You can min XMR on Android phone using Termux. Not profitable btw.

There is actually a coin designed to work on Android

<https://cheetahcoin.org>

Check it out, it's pretty cool

Possible, not profitable. Don't waste any time on trying to do this. You will make more money walking around a gas station waiting for people to drop their pocket change.

Pi is one of them. They just launched a wallet and testnet. Try.
