Thread: Milking Strategies

I usually ask for 50-100$ for Groceries/Rent after 24 hours of buying something from me, but after that I rarely get to pay them more. I've seen people who get regular customers pay 60$ for premium and etc. And eventually get them to spend 1k$ or more. Now i'm wondering what is it that i'm not doing right.?

How do you guys do it? Anyone wanna share their milking strategies??

I just think proper milking is what makes you the most money. ???

Upsell them more content, longer videos, custom content, dick rating, imessage/whatsapp texting, girlfriend experience, etc.

Make "yourself" look high quality and high maintenance, don't ask guys for money to help pay rent or college books or whatever - it's cringe

Yea makes sense. That's what i'm thinking. Asking for rent or groceries actually works, but only like 30% and half of them needs convincing. I offer making them a video and sexting with them right after they send.

In ewhoring, attention is your currency.

They might buy pics, vids or premiums but they are paying for attention. The more you give, the more they pay for.

Treat your attention like a drug and become the dealer. Give them just enough to get them addicted and they will keep coming back for little hits.

To add onto attention, make yourself look like a legit chick, don't only post you're selling premium, post non-business-related things on your story, food, animals, get creative. Long term if you build up a personality for your chick, buyers are going to be more interested in "you". Ties into attention, because if your story looks very legit, and they have no doubt you're real, you remove a layer of inhibition, they are more willing to give you the aforementioned attention.
