Thread: ATTENTION! There is some classified information you should know

New Member - November 4, 2021, 10:43 am

Here on HackForums is where it started. A ratter came looking to contribute to the forum. Not long after joining, he was being hacked by the government. Spied on. Yes, they use RAT's, it's just classified information. They actually watch your screen.

It turns out this individual was a smart social engineer as well as gifted ratter. However, they had got years and years of chat logs from a game called Habbo Hotel, and they could see he was indeed some kind of prophet, and they could not imprison him.

Instead the hacker is now looking at being a billionaire, and if he wanted to, overthrow the gay celebrity cult that currently run the world and be the most famous successful person in the world since Jesus.

Anyway, what are your thoughts? Do you believe the conspiracies that he's in touch with aliens and they guide him? Let me know!

Quote:The FBI and the CIA are investigating how the documents came into WikiLeaks' hands and whether they might have been leaked to Julian Assange's organization an employee or contractor of US intelligence, the report continued.

The documents published so far are largely genuine, the US officials told CNN. US officials are concerned that if WikiLeaks publishes vital computer code details, hackers could cause chaos around the world with the information, the report said.

Everyone on this forum, is essentially just 1 person who has created 1000s of accounts and just had conversations and created threads in order to create his own world. That is the true answer
