

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: What are good niches for affiliate marketing with google ads?

Digital Plug - November 7, 2021, 9:01 pm

I'm just getting started so I was looking for some input.. I want to pick a niche of advertisements to build a funneling website around along with a hot list of emails, but I'm having a hard time deciding on what route to go down. It seems like the "make money online" niche is one of the most popular and commonly done routes but is it too saturated? Is it still easy to get good conversions with paid traffic?

Dehyped | ?? - November 12, 2021, 6:55 am

Make Money Online is one of the worst niches in my opinion. It's so overdone, very saturated, very competitive, hard to build KLT factor, etc.

Your best bet with affiliate marketing is to niche down very specifically and build a blog around a particular topic you're very knowledgeable in. Do your keyword research, etc.

BUT...

If you insist on going the Google Ads route I would suggest taking a course first. Google Ads is so specific about things that are allowed and not allowed and I see people get their accounts shut down all the time for making small mistakes that Google decides they don't like. It's also the #1 paid traffic source for CPA/Affiliate Marketing so the algorithm is very complex and you need to know some insider tips and tricks to truly optimize your work.

That being said if you want to be in this for the long haul and not just make a few quick bucks, pick a niche that isn't SUPER mainstream but is trending up and will grow in the future. Drones, VR, Crypto, NFTs, etc.

SnapchatKing - November 12, 2021, 9:36 am

(Nov 12, 2021 07:55 AM)Sp ce Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Make Money Online is one of the worst niches in my opinion. It's so overdone, very saturated, very competitive, hard to build KLT factor, etc.

Your best bet with affiliate marketing is to niche down very specifically and build a blog around a particular topic you're very knowledgeable in. Do your keyword research, etc.

BUT...

If you insist on going the Google Ads route I would suggest taking a course first. Google Ads is so specific about things that are allowed and not allowed and I see people get their accounts shut down all the time for making small mistakes that Google decides they don't like. It's also the #1 paid traffic source for CPA/Affiliate Marketing so the algorithm is very complex and you need to know some insider tips and tricks to truly optimize your work.

That being said if you want to be in this for the long haul and not just make a few quick bucks, pick a niche that isn't SUPER mainstream but is trending up and will grow in the future. Drones, VR, Crypto, NFTs, etc.

I've also had this idea in my head.

I was doing CB + google ads. sadly i made 800$ ish before they banned my google ads account....otherwise i would do well. this was 7 days span.

Im now thinking to do the same thing, but with a blog. do you know how long it takes to rank these kind of things?

Dehyped | ?? - November 13, 2021, 6:47 am

(Nov 12, 2021 10:36 AM)SnapchatKing Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) ive also had this idea in my head.

I was doing CB + google ads. sadly i made 800$ ish before they banned my google ads account....otherwise i would do well. this was 7 days span.

Im now thinking to do the same thing, but with a blog. do you know how long it takes to rank these kind of things?

Yes, actually.

So, it really depends on your SEO. If you do all your on-page SEO right and structure your content right and do all the little tweaks and frontload your content it should take 8-12 months from the date of publication for a blog post to reach peak traffic from Google per month. The quality of the content obviously affects this so you could hit your peak sooner and keep it for longer or you could hit it later and have it fall off sooner. There's a lot of information to absorb when it comes to monetizing a blog and frankly it's a ton of work but a blog can easily reach $8,000/mo passive income on 24-36 months if done correctly. Then it can be sold for 10-20x the monthly revenue. So it's a big time investment but a big return down the road.

Why was your Google Ads account banned? You weren't directly linking to your affiliate sales page, were you? That's a big no-no.

Digital Plug - November 13, 2021, 10:50 am

(Nov 12, 2021 07:55 AM)Sp ce Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Make Money Online is one of the worst niches in my opinion. It's so overdone, very saturated, very competitive, hard to build KLT factor, etc.

Your best bet with affiliate marketing is to niche down very specifically and build a blog around a particular topic you're very knowledgeable in. Do your keyword research, etc.

BUT...

If you insist on going the Google Ads route I would suggest taking a course first. Google Ads is so specific about things that are allowed and not allowed and I see people get their accounts shut down all the time for making small mistakes that Google decides they don't like. It's also the #1 paid traffic source for CPA/Affiliate Marketing so the algorithm is very complex and you need to know some insider tips and tricks to truly optimize your work.

That being said if you want to be in this for the long haul and not just make a few quick bucks, pick a niche that isn't SUPER mainstream but is trending up and will grow in the future. Drones, VR, Crypto, NFTs, etc.

Is this the same with FaceBook ads too? Is it like walking on egg shells trying not to get banned?

Dehyped | ?? - November 13, 2021, 12:24 pm

(Nov 13, 2021 11:50 AM)Digital Plug Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is this the same with FaceBook ads too? Is it like walking on egg shells trying not to get banned?

In my experience and some common knowledge of others who use FB Ads, yes. They are very particular about things and frown on certain strategies. For example: linking directly to your affiliate sales page. The platforms are so huge and used so often that they have to keep the policies strict in order to avoid chaos, scams, etc.

SnapchatKing - November 14, 2021, 9:51 am

(Nov 13, 2021 07:47 AM)Dehyped Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes, actually.

So, it really depends on your SEO. If you do all your on-page SEO right and structure your content right and do all the little tweaks and frontload your content it should take 8-12 months from the date of publication for a blog post to reach peak traffic from Google per month. The quality of the content obviously affects this so you could hit your peak sooner and keep it for longer or you could hit it later and have it fall off sooner. There's a lot of information to absorb when it comes to monetizing a blog and frankly it's a ton of work but a blog can easily reach $8,000/mo passive income on 24-36 months if done correctly. Then it can be sold for 10-20x the monthly revenue. So it's a big time investment but a big return down the road.

Why was your Google Ads account banned? You weren't directly linking to your affiliate sales page, were you? That's a big no-no.

I see, i currently use JARVIS.AI to get my articles out, what do you think of that for a blog to rank?

well, no i did not link directly to my affiliate offer. I had a landing page. Many ran same offer as me without issues. i think Google saw this hole and patched it. So now i can barley see any ads from anyone....i do see a FEW but i think its cloaked ads.

so my plan now is to do a website about this niche, its kind of a " big " popular niche.....so it might be hard. write articles by using jarvis, and then from time to time put in affiliate articles?

Dehyped | ?? - November 14, 2021, 12:33 pm

(Nov 14, 2021 10:51 AM)SnapchatKing Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I see, i currently use JARVIS.AI to get my articles out, what do you think of that for a blog to rank?

well, no i did not link directly to my affiliate offer. I had a landing page. Many ran same offer as me without issues. i think Google saw this hole and patched it. So now i can barley see any ads from anyone....i do see a FEW but i think its cloaked ads.

so my plan now is to do a website about this niche, its kind of a " big " popular niche.....so it might be hard. write articles by using jarvis, and then from time to time put in affiliate articles?

There's not necessarily anything terribly wrong with that but I also wouldn't recommend it. You could technically use it to get the base down because your articles should be a minimum of 1200 words, ideally 2000, and then go in and touch it up, but there are some issues that may crop up.

I have a full blown guide to monetizing a blog coming in the near future so keep an eye out for that, it will cover everything in detail.

Monterey - September 2, 2022, 6:19 pm

Flight booking is a really good one. You can target all of USA and do call only ads or link to a landing page and get paid per call. Can get calls here for $5-10 and sell them for $16 a piece.

Blu3Dream - September 4, 2022, 6:17 pm

If you are in need of aged google ads accounts with spent you can check my thread.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6219824>

diablospartan - September 5, 2022, 1:22 am

Well i am in make money online niche and i can say guys you have right as i find it very difficult and very competitive .

I bring value but nothing ,sales are very low

I think its better to go with relationships ,spirituality ,personal development etc

NewtPeerc - August 27, 2023, 3:20 am

Would be happy if received. Thank you.