Thread: Upcoming NFT game PARTNERED with CORSAIR PRE-RELEASE \(\$ELMON\)

Docker - November 8, 2021, 6:06 pm

I stumbled upon this nft game called Elemon($ELMON) <https://elemon.io/> which has a "strategic partnership" with Corsair pre-release.

They just announced the listing on Pancake swap on Nov 12th. Take a look into the project and let me know what you think. Mooning or ...? They currently have over 150k members on telegram.

Quote:? MONDAY SPOTLIGHT - PANCAKESWAP LISTING ?

Hectic Monday, Elemonians!

After day in, day out of negotiation with countless emotions as well as wishing to give the best to global fan community, Elemon team has reached the final agreement that our $ELMON token will be officially listed on PancakeSwap exchange and on NOVEMBER 12, 2021 and we will soon inform you about the trading date with our official contract address in upcoming time

UPDATE:

Token is at 2.9$, 15th Nov, game wont get released up until December probably but nobody knows. When it came out you could buy it at 0.8$ it was steady for a few hours at this price so technically everyone buying on release is already 3x.

Would of been nice to not have broken English scattered throughout every post and all over their website but I can still see this giving great returns if you get in early when the contract gets posted

Is there any official announcement/acknowledgement from corsair that this is legit?

Never felt comfortable with this NFT game, I think there's money in the pump and dump but nothing like Axies infinity or Cryptomines. The ownership and effort put into things makes me question it.

The fact that the money stay locked for so long before fully getting released is a good sign for the people behind the game wanting this to last long and not be just a pump and dump. Correct me if i'm wrong. There's huge hype without the game even releasing yet. I'll keep a closer look at the game and see how this turns out.

Marketcap is not even 100mil. It has huge potential. It's not late to join. I'm seriously thinking of just holding and not playing the game at this point with such growth yesterday I bought some and after few hours started pumping, thinking to buy some bulk amount.

After 3-6 month where you see this one?

Honestly? If this reaches 1/10 of Axie's success we are already 10x. Since it's backed by a big name like Corsair i hope it skyrockets. But 10x is fine already.

Just bought a little, lets see how it goes.
