big facepalm

I didnt forget my birthyear, but for some reason i remembered that i was 2 years younger so i was not really even checking the year you know ? time flies damn fast
now i calculated the year and big facepalm

im so old Rip

xDonDraper - November 10, 2021, 5:12 am

Sometimes I do that myself aswell. I really think I'm 2-3 years younger than I actually am and I really don't know why I am doing this.

Maybe because time flies so fast? Or because the recent pandemic I really didn't do anything significant to remember so my brain just thinks those years did not past?

Koyote - November 10, 2021, 5:35 am

As far as I'm concerned, 2020 didn't happen because we did nothing, and 2021 is mostly a write off, so those two years don't count. You're still young bruh

Lmfao. I know my age, but I don't actively think about it. I forget sometimes. I'll think I'm still like 21 or something

Same man, so many plans and huge life stuff just postponed or outright cancelled, so those years did not happen if you ask me. I'm young af and time has no hold on me

It will be interesting to see what the effects of the pandemic does to our lifespan. Will it make it longer, or perhaps shorter? Its funny you posted this because this morning I was putting my age in on the treadmill and I put the wrong age in lol.

I think it may shorten it. If we stay in side for a long time we're not getting the nutrients we need. I could be wrong, not a doctor. lol

FinanceMan901 - November 10, 2021, 1:17 pm

Eh I'm 23 and truthfully I've accepted going at this point.

Blockonome - November 10, 2021, 2:15 pm

My mother still thinks that I am 2 years younger than I actually am lol, have to correct her so many times! :D

TB12GOAT - November 10, 2021, 2:18 pm

I have done this a few times this year.. im getting old.

God if only that was an actual thing

Leap years lol

Livewire - November 10, 2021, 10:09 pm

This doesn't make sense to me but okay.

How can you forget your age?

These were sleep years, we did nothing lol let's just all adopt this line of thinking so it becomes reality, and we're all good

Zero - November 11, 2021, 2:22 am

Did you forget how old you are or the year you were born?

born?

I forget how old I am for at least 3 months after my birthday.

That happens. But forget the year of my birth? Yea I don't see that happening to me.

I used to have to think about my birth year when I hung around one of my cousins because we were 1 year apart but the same age and it used to confuse me whenever we were asked.

TailsOS - November 11, 2021, 8:19 am

I am hoping 2022 will be better than 2020/21, for the sake of humanities sanity...

Orb - November 11, 2021, 1:00 pm

That's pretty fucked up coming to the realisation you are actually 2 years older than you thought you were.

Vitani's Mate - November 12, 2021, 10:54 pm

I know that feel man. I always think I am around 25-28 but I am actually 30.

I think that I am 25-28 but I feel like I am 80-85..

atlantic - November 12, 2021, 11:17 pm

Age is nothing but number, but also remember its grateful to be alive. Lots of people died of Covid-19, but we are still alive.

I turned 30 in July and my friends don't let me forget. I always now how old I am

Kittenz4life - November 13, 2021, 10:29 pm

I mess my age up all the time also. Mid 20s and on birthdays don't seem to matter as much.

You are so old, RIP.

Wait until you get even older: You don't even remember and have to check your ID!
