Thread: Invalid contract / contract abuse / UID = 5099490

Simplicity! - November 11, 2021, 2:33 am

This is the contract: <https://hackforums.net/contracts.php?action=view&cid=307967>

User <https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=5099490> started a contract, waited for it to complete and left a neutral bad b-rep regarding my ebook and has not entered the forum since.

His thread reply:

Our PM's regarding the ebook purchase:

Me: "Hello, unfortunately I do not accept PayPal due to privacy reasons. I can take BTC/LTC/ETH/XMR or HF Bytes (65,000 Bytes) "

Him: "damn, however could you maybe help me with this, im a rookie but would like to look into ewhoring, im currently have a MacBook Pro is that good enough hardware to handle Ewhore task programs? im thinking traffic etc "

Me: "You're going to be using your phone, you don't need a PC, but your MacBook is enough to do the traffic tasks, yes.

Check the currency exchange section, some might accept PayPal to exchange to crypto or bytes

Or you can buy BTC (or any crypto) via binance/coinbase as well "

Him: "My binance account is locked for traffic until I renew my passport, I will look into the exchange section, thanks! "

Me: "Feel free to add me on Discord: Euot#8917
once you've taken a look, so that we can keep contact, since I'm checking Discord more often than I am HF"

Staff can verify the PM's.

potkaj never exchanged any PP to crypto, nor did he buy the ebook (for which he left neutral b-rep), neither did he add me on Discord. (no reply to the message)

Just a user that doesn't like me, eh. Wrong way to use the contract system as this contract is totally invalid.

Possibly a multi-accounter but I can't really prove that.

I believe, since you're a vendor, your best bet would be to post this in the vendor subforum.
Good luck.

So if he didn't purchased anything, why did you marked the contract as completed?

xHeaven - November 11, 2021, 6:23 am

If there was no purchase at all, why did you mark the contract as "Complete"?

Simplicity! - November 11, 2021, 7:21 am

Because I get a lot of contracts and can't keep track of them all, I usually mark people whom I'm sure they've paid as complete, but I guess it happens to make a mistake due to the amount of new contracts and different people contacting me.

If he can provide the ebook files + pack or a discord chat where he paid or some transaction then feel free to directly ban my account. I already gave my statements, it is absurd to go by the idea "guilty unless proven otherwise", but ok. Like I said, he hasn't paid me anything, nor does he know the contents of the ebook to say it's outdated. So it is an invalid contract and b-rep.

Just because it's a targeted contract & b-rep abuse and not mass b-rep abuse doesn't mean it should be ignored.

Any staff member to look into this?

Bumping this thread again.

Bluffer - November 14, 2021, 12:57 am

Sorry, It's just a neutral rep. Who cares that much?

Hello can i talk to you about this rat

Simplicity! - November 17, 2021, 7:04 am

Wrong thread there ^

Check my BS RAT thread or just PM me

Simplicity! - November 19, 2021, 11:09 am

This guy still hasn't logged in. Most obvious contract abuse, looking to get this resolved

Simplicity! - November 24, 2021, 1:20 am

Bumping this once more. Hasn't logged in, no proof of purchase, no claims from abuser?

How long is this gonna be ignored

Considering you accepted it, you acknowledged that the contract was complete. Shouldn't have marked complete unless you were sure it was complete.

Not abuse

So I'm guilty until proven otherwise? Lol. Yes, I accepted it unfortunately like I mentioned above - does that give him any permission to misuse contracts? He can't even prove he bought it because he hasn't, nor will he ever login to the site again

So I agreed the contract is complete, am I obliged to give him the ebook without him paying or maybe put a nice b-rep as well?
What you're saying is absurd and if this is how contracts work I'm amazed.

Bumping this thread again.
He was active 5 days ago, no statement from him.

Jonasshepard - November 30, 2021, 4:54 am

Wow, I can't believe you have the nerve to dispute a contract with what you did to me. Also, using the same argument I made against you that I shouldn't have marked our contract as complete and using it for your side in this dispute is ridiculous. Until you make things right with me, karma will continue to come around to you.

Pretty pathetic in my opinion.

Funny how you lead a group who praise themselves to be great salesmen or entrepreneurs, but you haven't actually personally sold a product in your life. All you do is spend, but it's gotta be easy with moms and dads money, right? Not sure if you sold your account at some point or just exponentially grew so immature.

On a serious note, I guess spreading, selling and then backdooring your malware to profit out of absolutely everyone is better? No offense - I'm actually a big fan of yours, but you're not one to speak about what's pathetic and what not.

Carding was big at the time too, but I'm gonna abstain from that topic.
