what free rat would you recommend me for stealing paypals and cards (that means that it should include a fully controllable mouse and keyboard or some other feature that will make getting into his paypal for example possible). I've tried Quasar, but it is really really easy to find. There is literally "Quasar Client" process open.

Also I'd pay if there is any way that it can be undetected by windows firewall or if it has some way to use without port forwarding. I cant make a port forward and i am using ngrok to do so, but I have to generate a new file every time I close ngrok. I've seen rats that use discord or telegram and you don't need to port forward. I am sure there are other options to do so and if you know something please help me out.
