I was wondering if anyone has heard anything about the release of the movie or a date when they are suppose to start it back? Cause it ended on a really intense cliff hanger and it's killing me.....
HOW MUCH LONGER MUST WE WAIT!!!!!!

Recently got into Black Clover and am enjoying it. Right now, I'm on episode 89.

Reading some MAL comments, looks like there will be upcoming news at a Jumpa Event:

Yeah, it's been real addicting these last few days. Glad I am starting it after it finished and can finally binge.

Oh no no, I'm sure it will be continuing. It's too popular to not, especially here in the west.

Man Charmy makes the show..... It wouldn't be as good without her. But for sure you can definitely join.

Honestly, while some of the potato jokes made me laugh, there was nothing in it that told me wasting countless hours on the show was going to be worth it.

Also the voices get on my nerves a bit.

Wait till she gets to the heart kingdom. Favorite part right there

I couldn't stand the Japanese voices. I switched to English after about 5 episodes of yelling. I loved the cast for the dub.

Yes. Funimation usually does a good job with very popular titles. Sometimes their dubs flop, sometimes it's a bop.

I preferred the dubbed as well. Only watch last 10 episodes in sub.

The first book to me was kinda a disappointment only because it ended on a cliff hanger
WHAT WILL ASTA AND YUNO DO NEXT

Black Clover is actually really good, I binge watched it a few months back only to be immediately met with the disappointment of the series anime basically ending right as I finished haha.

But overall the story isn't too shabby, animation is nice for me at least, and I enjoy the naruto village ranking style vibes. It's fun watching the characters compete with one another, go on missions, level up, and earn their accomplishments.

Can't wait to see more.

The movie is said to come out Q1 of 2022. I'm hoping it's true though so they can finish out this saga at least.
