That video made my stomach turn.

I got to start being more thankful for the things I have.

Cryptocurrencies, Amazon gift card, credit card merchant (eg. 2checkout, Braintree, Payza, CCBill, etc) - assuming Payza is still alive.

can get an exodus wallet for crypto?

but humor me this

what kind of currency does a fourth world country use? hopefully not rocks and mud cookies. in my virtual environment I use time as a currency and I am optimizing to exchange it for another currency that is printed at the convenience of the guardians of the system.

The fourth world is the label that in my virtual environment means the constraints of the system to be able to exchange my time for a value that can give me a breath of fresh air and not feel like a slave helping to build the great pyramid for the pharaoh.

You don't need to be physically in haiti to play your personal video game in very hard mode.
