Thread: Ravencoin - Interesting coin #1

SIM-3749878 - December 11, 2021, 8:12 pm

FYI: I have invested in Ravencoin. This is not financial advice.

I've never created a thread where I make a good case for an investment so this will be my first try.

Links:

Quote:Coinmarketcap: <https://coinmarketcap.com/currencies/ravencoin/>

Website: <https://ravencoin.org>

Bitcointalk: <https://bitcointalk.org/index.php?topic=3238497.0>

Important info:

Quote:Pre-mine: No

Founders Reward: No

ICO: No

Masternodes: No

Airdrops: No

My prediction:

When I created this thread Ravencoin was worth $0.08898 per coin. I confidently predict that Ravencoin will hit $0.11 before the year is over and I also predict that the price will steadily increase for the entirety of 2022. There is also a halving happening in January 2022 which could boost the price.

Why:

I claim that Ravencoin is normally worth ~$0.1-0.15. The recent bear-market has reduced the price over 25% and I believe that when the market is restored somewhat then the price of Ravencoin will go back up to over $0.1 without any action. I also think the price will increase a bit more after the halving which is in about a month. I also think that Ravencoin is such a good project that it will grow naturally.

Also:

Ravencoin is not fully supported by some exchanges yet, like Crypto.com. Maybe it will grow a little more when announcements are made that Ravencoin is now available.

Some of Ravenscoins adoptions:

16/04/2021 STO Lotus Energy Community-owned clean energy generator, energy transfer and energy storage network Uses Ravencoin for their STO

30/04/2021 STO Blockchain Realtor Realtor of tokenized Real Estate. Uses Ravencoin to tokenize real estate

11/05/2021 STO B.A.F.E. Group Builds Modular homes from shipping containers. Uses Ravencoin for their STO

06/06/2021 STO American Films, Inc Will provide services to raise equity for film projects and copyrights/IP protection. Will utilize Ravencoin for their services

Another adoption:

<https://perper.net> (Stablecoin 1:1 Euro), built on Ravencoin blockchain.

In conclusion:

This thread fucking sucked, but I have bought some Ravencoin and I am looking forward to go back to this thread and read it in a month and then the month after that and the month after that.

What do you think about Ravencoin?

* "Interesting coin #1" does not mean that this coin is number 1 of anything particular. However, when I find another coin that I want to create a thread about then that will be my interesting coin #2. And the one after that #3.

i think right now what's important is the question " is the bear market here or are we still in a bull run? "

I had a look at this one, the only thing that I do not like, is that they have been hacked in June of 2020. That is what deterred me to not invest.

Lindros - December 12, 2021, 5:32 am

I have not been buying any but I mine it with a leftover RX570 so I own some. I don't plan to ever sell it.

Proxied - December 12, 2021, 1:03 pm

Am currently writing a project related to Ravencoin.

Once ETH v2 is fully operational, Ravencoin is the next best thing for mining rewards. But with the halving happening, I'm paying close attention regarding mining rewards.

It's just another Bitcoin fork (fork as in code fork, not chain fork) with changed parameters.

Litecoin (and others) did the same thing. Fork bitcoin code, change a few things and pretend you invented something new.

They might've started without a pre-mine or ICO, but let's be honest, who do you think were the first people to mine it?

As it's basically a copy of Bitcoin with a faster blocktime, different issuance and a different mining algorithm.

They tried creating/using an ASIC resistant mining algorithm and failed. They're neither more decentralized (2 pools have > 50% hashrate) nor more secure than Bitcoin (or Litecoin, or other forks).

This begs the question, why even use it?

It's cheap to use because no one really uses it. (source)

It doesn't bring anything new to the table.

TL;DR: Ravencoin completely useless.

I actually like RVN, but there's not much going on at the moment on it. I got in heavy right before eip 1559 for a pitty swing and it happened. Was very happy. I believe it's at a good price in the .09 range. I wouldn't load up, but DCA into it. I believe it will become a better chain as well as increase in price as the tokens are released much quicker than BTC. Mind you, I also like the fully diluted market cap and where it's at at the moment. It's actually almost too indicative of how cheap it truly is. I hold some on my cold storage wallet.

The only issue I see with RVN is that if BTC actually has smart contracts in the form or fashion of what we expect, then I don't know how populated RVN's ecosystem will be. But let's see! Better to buy now and wait.

Recon12345 - December 13, 2021, 5:12 am

Tbh I don't see potential in this coin except for it's mining attractiveness which it's true if lots of people start investing in mining alone and if it's traded it might be enough but idk long term, it doesn't look like anything special. Just another mediocre crypto, tbh so many projects come out doing nothing just because it's a bull run.

People buy anything in a bull run so idk nothing to make me want to invest in the long run at least not now. Way better potential projects out there but the mining part alone might be enough. Looks too risky for me.

I just bought $1000 in RVN coin @0.08. So let's see what happens with this coin taking a chance on it.

I am not someone you should listen to for financial advice, not for legal reasons but because I've invested maybe $50,000 since my 18th birthday and I lost probably 90% of it. I have a different strategy today and it is less than a year old. However, in my very simple opinion I think the value will increase after the halving. The halving is in 6 days, and I think we will see a new ATH ($0.24+), then stabilize at around +~30% of previous stable value (so from around ~$0.12 to ~$0.16~0.20).

I predict a new ATH on 11th of January

I predict $0.16 before 20th of January

I predict that RVN has not dropped below $0.14 for the entirety of 2022

Go RVN!

It's very easy to think... "wow eth go pos no more pow, but rvn pow so miner come rvn... rvn go moon", but once you think critically you realize this is just a dream.

1. ETH Merger proves that PoW is no longer necessary and provides no security or decentralization advantages over PoS. This hurts the bottom line of PoW in the long run.

2. Even the smallest ETH miners have enough capacity to overwhelm and 51% attack Ravencoin. requiring less than 6TH/s. Which is not even 1% of ETH's total hashrate of 1PH. It's 0.55% of ETH's total hashrate meaning malicious pools can come in and attack and drain.

3. Hardware to profit ratio is messed up. Right now 3.6m RVN is mined daily equaling $324k a daily block subsidy. A 10TH/s ETH miner 1% of ETH total hashrate coming to raven would take up 66% of the network. 10TH/s that is about 90,000~ RTX 3090's at MSRP $1499 = $134M in hardware mining about $214k daily income before costs. That is 1/4th the profit from ETH at current price.

4. Now you'll say but rvn can go up and up. $214k daily income will be $500k when rvn doubles in price you would say. But there is no ecosystem, miners have no buffer to sell to. There is no Defi, NFTs, Metaverse, DAOs, Staking, dApps, and more that is absorbing the selling pressure of miners.

tl;dr

1. ETH merger proves that PoW is obsolete.
2. 0.55% of ETH miners can 51% attack RVN network to death.
3. Lower profitability -75% profit, larger miners will take over the majority of hashrate and dump coin to pay off hardware and mining costs.
4. No vast or vibrant ecosystem to absorb miner sell pressure.

Conclusion: You are better off buying BTC. Yes, this might go up in the short term as people speculate this to be the "New PoW ETH" but in reality, it won't.

A long time ago I sold everything I had in RVN, probably at a loss, but today I am going back in again. Honestly, the project looks kind of dead? But I have a hunch anyways, mostly because I don't know shit. I bought some right now for $0.02595 each. I invested an amount of money that I can afford to forget about, and I'll configure some app to notify me in case this increases in price. If it goes back to the price it peaked at in Jan 2022 around the time when I wrote this thread then it'll be a 4-5x. According to my calculations, there is a 99% chance this goes to shit.

50b mcap, right now it is 0.5b, right? So you expect a 100x, possibly in just a few years? Of course we all like to dream, but even as a RVN investor myself I find it difficult for it to reach 50b mcap. I don't see why it would. i would mine it too if it was efficient in my country since last 4 years the eletric bill has gone up from 0.08-0.12cent to 0.22-0.30cent a kw so its not profitable at all for me atm :|

it was a fun experience to be mining tho with an 3080ti and 3070 :D

i used to mine it back in the day when eletric bill was good now my country is rrtarded and bills went crazy in thr last few years so i cant mine no more but u can check google at 2crypto for how much u getting and if ur profiting

after quick search u could make up to 13ravencoins day with that gpu

I started to mine RVN today actually and will keep mining it for a while, just for the fun of it. Haven't mined crypto in years. I will lose on it in the short term but I don't mind, and I also need to heat up this room a bit :D

No but really, I am still like 1.5x at least and I could have sold earlier for 2x+ but wtf, it's not enough. I think I will wait and hope for another surge.

it seems we have found a support at 0.04$

yea posts are shit and it aint it but project is alive for a long time and is top 200 for a while with 500+M market cap its uniq cuz there were no AIRDROPS no free stuff pure on MINING from GPU ANTI-ASIC its a community coin... idk i wont invest also anymore into this but for now its my top profit coin it was Rune before but now this has taken its place for the time beeing im into alot of other alts too :)
