Yeah, I agree. I'd like to get it resolved with him but idk how to get in touch.

But thank you for your perspective.

Essentially you're fucked. You might be able to contact Omni if you were a vendor and see if you had any options...but for the most part it just is what it is.

Nah omni only helps vendors with disputes related to pre-fill contracts/templates

Not true, many here have had illegitimate disputes removed after proving they were illegitimate. Myself included. It's a perk of being vendor.

I interpreted 'contract abuse' to new members not familiar with contracts starting issues either directly or indirectly.

TBF I haven't been a vendor for long enough to have those issues.

It means any abusive actions.

Dispute abuse that intentionally harms or helps the reputation of a vendor
