Thread: ReactJS Frontend Developer & Backend Developer

InfoDealer - December 20, 2021, 3:03 am

Hello.

We are looking to outsource some web development for our website. We are looking for people who are skilled and relatively quick in designing websites.

For the frontend position, we are looking for someone who:

Knows ReactJS and JS, expert levels of CSS/HTML5

Can work from a Figma or Photoshop/similar file for designs

Can infer what something is meant to do, and does not require constant hand-holding

Is responsive and can work in a team

Is familiar with Git

Can dedicate 2+ hours/day to web development for a contract period

Is willing to learn, and can seek out information on their own

For the backend developer we are looking for:

Someone who can work in either Laravel or Node

Can infer what something is meant to do, and does not require constant hand-holding

Is responsive and can work in a team

Is familiar with Git

Can dedicate 2+ hours/day to web development for a contract period

Can co-operate with our existing frontend devs to implement functionality

Is willing to learn, and can seek out information on their own

If this sounds like you, send me a private message with your preferred IM contact method.

Payments will be on a weekly or monthly basis and you will be given a contract for freelance work.

Developers from Ukraine, Russia, India or other more affordable places preferred.

What's your budget? I am a full stack developer - react.js and node.js in Typescript; PHP using Laravel and Codeigniter
