This thread design is sexy! You have a good eye for aesthetics I enjoy.
Thank you!

You know where to find me. ?

+Vouch for the seller. User was friendly, very quick to respond and delivered the graphic very fast.
He was great at getting to understand what was needed to make good graphic design choices

Not to bash on your thread or anything, but coming from someone who's been in the design industry for some time, the color combination on the thread needs some reworking. It literally hurts my eyes, and I think it's the excess of purple. At least on mobile.

I'm sorry you feel that way. My graphic style isn't mild or for the feint of heart.

Could I have spent more time on it? Sure. It matches my business' color scheme and uses the same colors from my website, social profiles, and logo... but coming from someone who's been in the design industry for some time, you probably didn't think of that, huh?

Thanks for the feedback.

Will continue to use his service.

As always, appreciate your business and support.

The black heart award looks good, hopefully it doesn't get used too much lol.

Looking forward to it.

Hit me up!

You're charging $200 for threads?

Even TheInspiredOne, who I still deem the best thread designer on HF never charged that much.

Don't want to sales trash, but you might want to get some experience first before charging that much.

Appreciate the feedback, I took a look around at what others were charging.

I came across $100-$200 USD and $125-250 EUR.

It is what it is, sorry you see it that way.

Y'all are charging triple digits? I'm still at $30-$50 lol

Do you still have a portfolio somewhere? I'd love to see what you're capable of My HF prices are $100 minimum, that's just where I feel the quality of my work is best valued especially for threads. $50 is usually my price for logos, and then $100 for anything hand-drawn. Usually depends on the amount of work required, timing and of course execution.

I don't do any graphics for $200, here anyways.
