Thread: what do you think men would do if all women suddenly vanished from existence

Mr.Cat - December 27, 2021, 12:51 pm

So lets say you are a male and you wake up one day and all women have vanished from existence including your mom, grandma girlfriend...etc.. What would you do then? How do you think everyone would react to this?

Joe - December 27, 2021, 12:59 pm

Based on what I've seen during 14 years in prison, 90% of the dudes would immediately start having sex with each other.

bevc - December 27, 2021, 12:59 pm

Be exactly like the Reavers in 'Serenity'.

95% of men would just lay down and die. 5% would become deranged savages.

wait seriously? I don't think i will ever have sex with another male...

Black Whale - December 27, 2021, 1:20 pm

No point to exist then unless we can somehow fabricate some real good pussy.

We would all fight over the sexiest robot.

Gimme that good metal baby...

hayesh - December 27, 2021, 1:47 pm

men will just have sex with james charles types or jerk off with the remaining amount of porn content

Omfg bro this made me legit LOL

When I moved in with my celly he moved some shit off the top bunk and had a condom in a clear pack just chillin under something, and everyone said I had to either fuck or fight... I ended up getting jumped for my ecigs and in two other fights within the first week xD

Definitely a very strange environment, felt like I was having a panic attack the entire time I was locked up, I could NOT adapt no matter how much I wanted to.

I disagree. One could argue that the existence of a single grain of sand has no purpose, so what makes us (humans) any different with or without women?

A10247 - December 27, 2021, 6:50 pm

I know what I would do, nothing. I'd sip tea under a palm tree on an island. What else could I do?

Friendz - December 27, 2021, 8:36 pm

Schopenhauer had said that without women our lives would pass without comfort and pleasure. I can really see a lot of men going crazy because they cannot fulfil their carnal needs. It would definitely increase the methods in which we practice onanism and the frequency that we do it. Women really let men have a channel to share emotions in a private space whereas most men are less likely to be affectionate and emotional with other men, without women I truly think we would be a more angry, frustrated, and combative society than we already are.

I think most guys get enough practice at that already.

I'd be interested to know (from a scientific perspective of course), of all the men in all the world, of every time they ejaculate, what percentage of the total a woman is actually involved at all (ie present, and not in the Louis CK sense of her just being involuntarily in the room). Because I bet it's not as high as you'd think - or as high as most men would claim.

So the answer to this question might be 'just jerk-off 20% more and make that twinkie-looking bastard who plays Loki wear a dress'.

2xTheTap115 - December 28, 2021, 9:13 am

I have no idea what I would actually do, but the thought of what consequences this situation would have for our species is frightening.

Go to war, without families and women, we have no reason not to fight.

Without families and women, we have no reason to fight, either.

Have you ever read a book called 'The Red Queen' by Matt Ridley? As I recall, he rather controversially argues that pretty much every war can be boiled down to men fighting over women.

iPepper - December 28, 2021, 10:39 am

Know how Men work: we'd figure out a way to create more humans (including females) using the stem-cell technology we're already working on. It's a lot easier with female stem cells since some can become reproductive cells, but we'd figure out something.

So...it wouldn't be long before they were back and complaining about the toilet seat being up.

Baking Ape - December 28, 2021, 11:10 am

I'd be complaining about that even if the entire population of the world was dudes. It's gross. It's an open hole to a sewer in your house. Close the gosh-darn lid.

Helltoy - December 28, 2021, 11:52 am

There is a movie about that topic.

<https://www.imdb.com/title/tt3984356/>

It would have a huge impact on humanity.
no woman == no new baby's.

And I don't think our knowledge is good enough so we can reproduce without women. If it happens let's say tomorrow, then we have like 100 or even fewer years to find a way to do it and test it all, and it as well involves changing our mind to find it all normal.

We will probably grow a cunt, so we both have a cock and a cunt and then we can fuck ourselves or each other and then we can pop a few sprogs out of our new developed cunts.

Well, you just solved the entire thread. We already have people that are both male and female. Females are, biologically speaking, classified as having two X chromosomes, whereas men have an X and a Y chromosome.

And since only women disappear from this hypothetical situation, we would still have...

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/46,XX/46,XY>

This means that reproduction would still be possible without women. This is not taking into account the people who feel they should be classified as female.

That was pretty much my first thought and I'm a straight woman who has never been to prison. Chris Watts has a boyfriend now. Watt's boxers and lube were found in his room and he rings the guy's family all the time and was punished for giving him gifts because apparently they aren't allowed to purchase stuff for each other at the commissary.

I do fight precisely for women and children, which is the reason why I am not willing to throw my life away in a war.

Take away my women and children, and suddenly my ability to give my life up to a different cause becomes much greater.

The reason I don't do that right this second, is because I have women and children depending on my life to be successful themselves. Take that away, and suddenly what I have to dedicate my life to isn't something that is my women and children.

How could you twist something like that?

Dude, it wasn't specifically about you I was using the term "you" in general like the word one as in "One goes to war to protect the woman and children". Also it was just a joke.

I'll always remember my husband getting so mad that I was asking him to please pause his game so we could talk. It was because I was pregnant. We'd been married two years it wasn't a bad thing. He shouted WHY? And was about to shout more about when I shoved the test in his face to stop him. ? We wasn't a gamer most of his life but he was briefly just really into that game.
