Thanks a lot for posting hoping to keep this thread bumped to the top. It is only QL from unique users so if you are giving each other quick love to the same user one than once it is not helping towards the award for either person.

Yeah I think a lot of people think that concept also at the start, but later realize their numbers don't add up correctly. It happened to me, but I usually QL a lot more than received out of respect. I should be close to this award, and congrats on your quick love heart!
