Thread: Would anyone be interested in running a crew.

Gauging interest from members about this idea.

I currently don't do much with my crew so I would like to give another member the opportunity to run a crew.

Please let me know if you would be interested in this. I would pick 1 person and let them run the crew for however long I decide.

I would still be the holder but you can invite 8 other people. Change the graphics and whatever else you would like.

This isn't in place yet. Just seeing if I can get any interest.

Thank you.

Great idea for someone to step in and run things. Would love to see how this goes.

What he said, it's also very nice of you to allow someone to do this. Not something you see often, good on you.

Would charge to let them run it? Cause id like to see if I'd like running one before I invest into one.

Ehh maybe. More interested in letting someone that may not have the funds to buy one a chance to run a crew.

However if someone has a good idea and wants to pay idk..

See that's the thing. What would be a good idea for a crew? What exactly does a crew do? I know it's for games on here and all but is it strictly just for a certain game or what? Is it only games?

You could use it for the games, You could use it as a social circle, do giveaways or provide help to others.

You don't have a subforum but those don't get used much anyways.

It's a good stepping stone to see if maybe later you can run a official group here on Hf. It builds experience managing personal.

In most cases if you can run a crew then the odds are you could run a group with unlimited members. If someone is willing to give control of a crew for free? I would jump on it.

What is the typical price of a crew? Cause I don't even know if I could afford it. Because I am wanting I become more involved with the immunity. I've even applied for a few groups. But yeah now thinking about it and what they could be used for I could make good use of it.

Question and you only be in 1 crew at a time?

Great idea, this will bring some creativity in the group.

That's pretty dope of you to do man, i wouldn't mind doing that if you don't find somebody else. Would be pretty neat to experience running a crew before ushering into purchasing one for those who have thought about doing so. Best of luck with everything!

I would be interested in joining a group that speaks strictly about command line for the terminal emulator. Do you know of any such groups?

Sky - January 16, 2022, 7:25 pm

It'd be cool for when Hackercraft gets revived to have a crew established.

This would be a neat idea too. I've been write a lot of .sh and bashes lately due to a whitelisting issue so any knowledge in terminal is a win in my book

Great idea!

Also i always had an idea to create an "europe" group and add all the people located in europe :D
