Thread: [Need a cyber cert? FREE study group! \[LINK INSIDE\]](#)

linkinpork - January 13, 2022, 9:18 pm

What's happening?

Professor Messer (<https://www.professormesser.com/>) will offer a study group on January 20, 2022 on CompTIA Security+.

What is the CompTIA Security+?

The CompTIA Security+ certification is a vendor-neutral designation widely recognized by the IT industry. It equips individuals with the skills they need to get one of the many job roles in cybersecurity. Before earning any other cybersecurity certifications, technicians should get CompTIA Security+.

Why should you get the CompTIA Security+?

CompTIA Security+ offers critical foundational cybersecurity skills that IT professionals should have before pursuing higher-level certifications. This includes certifications that are vendor neutral as well as vendor specific. The IT skills CompTIA Security+ provides include:

Identifying attacks and vulnerabilities to mitigate before they infiltrate IS

Understanding secure virtualization, secure application deployment and automation concepts

Identifying and implementing the best protocols and encryption

Monitoring and securing hybrid environments, including cloud, mobile and IoT

Installing and configuring identity and access services and management controls

Installing, configuring and deploying network components while assessing and troubleshooting issues to support organizational security

Implementing and summarizing risk management best practices and the business impact they have

Installing and configuring wireless security settings and implementing public key infrastructure

Understanding penetration testing and vulnerability scanning concepts and detecting compromise

Understanding the importance of compliance

I loved using Professor Messer's videos as part of studying for the A+ and network+, never been to a live study group tho. hopefully this goes good. but regardless, I highly recommend his content for studying for tech certs
