Thread: feeling separated and running outta time

OX Limestone - January 27, 2022, 10:16 am

Some days have been long, some days have been short. I haven't really had time dealing with these things as they come just trying to keep up. I really want to become a better person a King. But every time I try to move forward there is always a setback. I have a little niece now and my family besides my blood have been testing me. I'm such a humble person and a loving person. I haven't ever been much of war or fighting about certain situations. I've always tried to talk. Things were always turned around and always backfired. I have so much and lost so much in the process

I just feel like i won't ever be the same again. I just wanted to be honest and introduce my self, my name is Alexander. Everyone I appreciate you for sitting down and taking the time out of your day to read.

I hope everything is going good on your end.

With this corona Virus things have been moving very slow and people haven't been the same since. I hope everything gets better. I'm tired yo. I hope I have the strength to keep going yo

Don't worry too much, worry just a little and leave the rest hanging why do you feel separated and running out of time? I don't get what this post is about?

Take it easy man, people shouldn't expect anything from you and we're all on our own journey.

Life is way too short to worry about things, it will all seem trivial one day so take a minute to be sad and then snap out of it and be productive in any way you can.
