I just came across this method. Click the link below to get free $5 in Honeygain tokens. This shares your bandwidth in exchange for tokens. They also have an option to include your PC in their CDN config. I threw the app on an isolated VM. We'll see how it goes! I figured I'd share this info with you as well.

EDIT: As noted below you need to have earned $20 to get a payout from the Honeygain wallet. You can change over to the JumpTask wallet instead to be rewarded more frequently.

"Collect $20 to request a payout!"

Please add that to the thread.

People might wait for proof of withdrawal before actually trying this.

Anyway, I'm gonna try it out on my phone.

Earned around 150 tokens on my phone using 5G, the app used 1.3gb.

Since I need 15.000 to cash out. It would take me 100+ days, more than 3 months.

I pay $23 for unlimited data and I can use 10gb per day. Which I rarely abuse.

Since the app didn't even come close to my daily limit, and it would use 1.5GB per day, I could use this to pay back for my data.

But $150 \times 30 = 4500$, so I would earn almost \$5, which isn't really worth it.

There are quicker ways to earn that $5, maybe not every day. But very doable with no real effort.

This app uses your data but also resources in the background, which also have effect on your battery.

Is that really worth it on a $400+ phone?
