Thread: MANA is good

Don't really have much to offer here but an opinion, but MANA imho is a solid buy. I only converted 1 ETH to MANA not too long ago and I am up like .15, the price correlation between it and Ethereum is solid. My only regret is being a pussy and not converting more, but oh well. Decentraland too is pretty cool, I have had some fun exploring through their platform. I play some mini-game on there that is kind of a grind (like 15-20 mins a day) and I have crafted some limited wearables (which are also NFTs), who knows, maybe one day it will be bigger and these will be desirable. I think MANA is a good project and I like it, the token MANA is cool, the whole NFT aspect of it had nothing to do with making me interested.

Edit : Check it out here if you care, it's a browser based "game" at the moment, but a desktop version has been announced for this year.

There was big thread here about MANA when it was below 1 USD. It was very laggy on my browser, so I switched to another game. I hope the desktop version will be smoother. But it has huge potential indeed

All of the metaverse game now is build poorly. is just to early to build game.

they need to develop their technology that make the games exist before they build games.
it will take years to have good technology that can ake good games.

have u played sand and mana? is not exciting nobody will play this in the long-run and the prices is just becus speculation and hype.

but is good to bet on it while the bull run is continue.

Agreed. It is all speculative at the moment, but in the mean time it has had solid returns. I am fairly new to it myself, but it's been nice to hold!

MANA is going strong right now, and I am happy to see my ETH gains :)

11 months too late. I told people to look into it under 50 cents.

That is the truth. You're 100% right. I don't see my investment as breaking new ground, I just like using it as a way to get more ETH with what I have to work with. If I was a member when you posted that thread and did the same play, it would be way different. But oh well, shoulda, coulda, woulda. Good call on your part.

I have been checking that out, perhaps I may. Metaverse cryptos are interesting to me and do excite me a bit.
