I was warned, but NullSafe totally scammed me. Lesson learned. Luckily, I didn't pay him much because he seemed sketchy. Dude totally ghosted me and several others. Watch out for this liar.

Do you have a contract and do you have chat proof of him scamming you?

I sure do!! I have all our messages and my disputed job. Dude super sucks.

He told me no one would trust a newbie like me over him. He's a complete bully and shouldn't be allowed to treat people this way. I'm not even mad about the $, but the threats are super uncool and scary.

NullSafe has changed his name to KillSwitch, because he scammed me and others and wants to hide his poor reputation. Message me for details or view his disputed job and poor business rating.

If you make spam threads about a dispute you have with a member I think that you will be warned from staff, but to each his own. If you do deals with someone on-site you need to use the contract system. Deal with caution in everything you do.. on-site or off-site

Thanks. I'm all done now, had to get it out of my system.

Best of luck sorry for what happened hope you can get it resolved.

Thanks. Sorry I don't mean to put my issue all over your forum. Listen, it wasn't even a lot of money. I just wanted to warn newbies like me. There are so many of us who've gotten hacked and made desperate.

I can confirm this user is a nice person and have been looking to get back into their account which is hacked.

Sucks to see people getting scammed here.

Sucks that you got scammed, however, I would highly recommend removing the name of your account from those images you provided.

I know Jagex monitors some communities for RWT, and I would assume HF is one of them.

123! You warned me but I didn't listen. I avoided five other scammers but this one was so believable. Thanks for being one of the good guys ? helps to balance this crazy world out.

This is not the deal dispute forum. Do not use it as such. Dispute your contract to make a dispute.
