Would be cool to have a blockchain development forum category.

100% agree, this space is only getting bigger and bigger.

I'm glad you stated blockchain and not a specific aspect of blockchain (e.g solidity)

I agree with the suggestion.

You're probably correct. But given the way things are going, there will be a `need` for it eventually.

With every bull cycle comes more and more adoption (especially this time around with the NFT craze). Definitely think if software development is your niche, you should do blockchain development. It's a growing industry and is almost a guarantee on a big salary if you get some experience. Already have the big name companies working on blockchain technology - only a matter of time until there is a large demand, followed by a large supply of developers (IMO).

Does blockchain development somehow not fit into any of the existing programming forums?

I had a second look and quite honestly, nope. Blockchain Dev is growing, with a mix of languages from Haskell, Rust, Solidity.. I think its reasonable to group these conversations under a blockchain category.

I couldn't agree more.

I can see creating this and then we all wait for threads that matter. Only they never come. And the section is dead almost immediately. I'm willing to consider it. HF needs some serious restructuring. Just not ready to pull the trigger.

whatever happened with the rebrand idea? Was that voted down?

Yeah I personally felt the rebrand would've done a lot of favors in the long run of things. But as he had mentioned before, a rebrand that heavy could literally kill the site. Nothing wrong with waiting for the right moment for it.

the resurrection of 2013-2016 hf is imminent. people are bound to come here; excited to see what you choose to do with the site.

wondering what reconstructions you mean, though.... ;)

Yes, it would be great to have a dedicated forum category for blockchain development. This would provide a platform for developers to share their knowledge, ideas, and best practices. It could also facilitate collaboration and networking among the blockchain community.

This can still go under cryptocurrency, no need for new one i think
