

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Buying bulk items on alibaba and reselling

FinanceMan901 - February 10, 2022, 3:45 pm

What do you guys think of this? I found a nice seller and I plan on spending a few grand on some iPhones and reselling them for 2x/3x the price. Anyone have luck with this?

? Soufian ? - February 10, 2022, 3:49 pm

Sounds like it's a case of stolen phones, there must be something wrong with them.
If it's good to be true, then it is.

webdev77 - February 10, 2022, 3:50 pm

Bulk phone buying from anywhere other than authorized distributors is just asking to get scammed. Pick something else to resell. Tons of options available, but don't pick items that are likely to have problems.

Virally - February 10, 2022, 3:53 pm

(Feb 10, 2022 04:50 PM)webdev77 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Bulk phone buying from anywhere other than authorized distributors is just asking to get scammed. Pick something else to resell. Tons of options available, but don't pick items that are likely to have problems.
Agreed or they are andriod OS.

ceegee - February 21, 2022, 6:56 am

(Feb 10, 2022 04:53 PM)Virally Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Agreed or they are andriod OS.
Got burnt like this once ?
Careful with what you're buying OP.

Bullup - February 21, 2022, 11:38 am

Most likely goophones or smt, either that or stolen and therefore useless.

Omniscient - February 22, 2022, 3:19 pm

These will be fake/clone/replica iphones. You'll get them and then be stuck with them or have to convince someone else they are real. Either get scammed or be a scammer basically if you do this.

Truth - February 22, 2022, 3:23 pm

yeah, look at the youtube reviews of these cheap alibaba "iphones"

its a joke.

Still better than the real iphone imo :D iOS closed source sucks

Krour - February 24, 2022, 5:57 am

If it's too good to be true the just avoid it, specially something expensive like iphones.