Hello, the reason i signed up on HK is because i would like to find out what the internet will bring us in the future. The danger of people can pretend who they wish to be. As i am as little as possible using social media it is crazy how people can't live without it these days.

So do you admit you are one of those people who can't live without social media?

DutchRebel - February 11, 2022, 7:48 pm

Yes like that. People are no longer able to recognize their own emotions anymore, and froms others cause everything goes digital. If people are no longer able to recognize emotions that will change how people treat each other, and not in a good way
