Code Why choose us over others?

We provide buy signals like all others do but on top of that we provide a lot more signals because our bots scrape the entire internet and filter them through certain criteria, the same criteria and more that other signal groups follow.

We also keep track for downtrends or uptrends within the top 50.000 NFTs with xxx minimum amount of owners, those criterias you can also change yourself and could open up interesting buy opportunities without the need for bots as many NFTs are minted by bots at release, something that those other groups don't tell you because they can't offer this.

We also offer Notification Alerts for Desktop, Email and Discord DM.

And this all for a low cost of $75 per lifetime, while other just run an amateur discord group with limited signals as they gotta do that manually, lacking a lot of features that we do offer, for a price of $350-$750 which is x5 - x10 of our pricing, meaning that we are not only a lot better, we are also a lot cheaper.

Yes, mobile friendly just like Cryptomander is as well.

And we also have Android and iOS apps in development for both projects :)

Video looks very high quality.

Others charge up to $750 for lifetime and you charge $75, a kick in their nuts, especially since you have your own fully automated platform and you are developing an upcoming NFT trading bot as well.

Very unique concept, I look forward to hearing more about this project.

Fair pricing in my opinion, we will slightly increase pricing though when the NFT trading bot releases to the web platform.

Feel free to stop by in our community server for Cryptomander and NFTMander.

Is this doable for someone completely new to nft space?

Do I need to download anything?

Is this automated trading? Or receiving signals form the bot?

What platform do you trade nft on?

What's the minimum investment to start trading?

What platform do you trade nft on?

What's the minimum investment to start trading?

We've focused on providing all necessary tools an NFT Trader could need (aside from sniper bots but those are also planned in the future), traders can keep track and get alerts when NFTs drop in price significantly, or if they increase in price significantly, it keeps track of the top 50.000 NFTs.

Upcoming NFTs that are being released today, within a week or within a month are also scraped from many platforms online and presented in our platform so that you won't miss a drop of an important upcoming NFT again.

We also filter all these NFTs and run them through criteria based on popularity and online presence in general to determine if a project is most likely to be profitable once released, these are presented in the Buy signal page once it is determined to be a highly likely profitable project to buy into early.

We are now focused on making the platform useful for absolute beginners by presenting guides, video tutorials that we've found and find useful (already present in the platform) and methods in general, aside from videos there are no methods or text written guides at this point however we are planning on adding those short term.

If you are an absolute beginner i would advice you to wait but regardless, you will need NFTWarrior sooner or later anyways and of course it is cheaper to get in now as we are extremely cheap at this point.

So in short, NFTWarrior is extremely useful for expert and beginners, but we are still working on welcoming beginners properly the NFT space.

To answer your other questions, OpenSea is the biggest NFT Marketplace right now, but www.rarible.com is growing rapidly as well.

www.solsea.io is the more common choice atm because of high ETH fees, most people prefer SOL based NFT's because of that at this point.

The video below explains you the problem with ETH NFTs very well.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=tNvBFTRM_m0&t=1s

On a side note, this video below could also be very useful for you as an absolute beginner.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=P6RpHGATE6M>

Minimum investment for NFTs is a complicated question as that of course depends on your budget, but i personally would recommend starting with $150-$250.

Are there vouches for this one? Is it possible to see the profits from your recent calls or something anywhere?

Also, how many calls can I expect daily or weekly (for ETH network)

How much of an investment is needed?

There is a free package upcoming very short term, most customers are in the ManderProducts discord server.

There are currently 23 calls on-going for the upcoming 2 weeks - most are ETH but we are working on focusing more on SOL very short term.

That depends on you but a few hundred bucks would get you in for a proper start.

No there is not, we aren't focused on gathering proof right now, we are focused on development, and we don't intensively market this at the moment either because of it, so we aren't trying to motivate our customers to post proof.

Just like we had to build Cryptomander, we also have to build NFTWarrior from the ground up, and just like Cryptomander was very cheap at the start, so is NFTWarrior now as well.

You can soon test our product for free like anyone else will be able to do so.

Within a few days, everyone will be able to create a free account.

Free accounts will have access to every page that includes Downtrend alerts, Uptrend Alerts, Buy signals, Guides and Upcoming drop signals.

However the Buy signals and Upcoming drop signals pages will be limited for free accounts, meaning that free accounts will only be able to see x amount of signals on both of those pages where premium accounts will have full access.

Notifications through Discord, Desktop and Email will also remain as a Premium only feature.

People who are actually involved in the NFT space will be well aware of multiple tools outside of the information that can be gathered on the marketplaces. I wont list here as I don't want to drag away from your sales.

Why use your tool/signal group over free tools and open discord groups that have proven to give profit to the users?

As I am quite involved in the NFT space I am willing to discuss this further and perhaps push the product into some alpha groups I am involved in, depending on the quality of the service you are providing. Send me a DM if you are interested and a recent video of the tool in use. Thanks ?

Our tools are free as well, you can sign up at nftwarrior.io

The only thing that we charge for are buy signals which are upcoming mint signals filtered through certain criteria to determine whether they are most likely to be profitable or not, and we only charge $75 a lifetime for that compared to others who charge up to $750.

This is done on a large scale for ETH, Matic and SOL, and automated.

It is not a desktop tool btw but a web platform.

Can you show one of your earliest buy alert calls here? I would suspect that would of paid dividends by now considering how fast the NFT space moves.

This thread is not purely a focus on our buy alerts, this thread is a focus on brand awareness as our main product isn't done yet, which will be a mint sniper and a few other nft related bots for various blockchains.

Just like with Cryptomander, we don't create proof of profits ourselves and we have no rush either, we let the customers do that for us and we don't motivate or force people to post either, on cryptomander there are over 150+ people who posted proof of profits, in time that will be the case for nftwarrior as well but again we are not in a rush for that and again, buy signals are not our main product, we are just here for brand awareness at the moment.

I'm not going in depth on the criteria used as i wouldn't want others to copy what we do exactly, which you know why since you are familiar with similar projects, but what i can say though is that the criteria is obviously based on project awareness, online popularity, statistical nft information, and several other factors.

I wish you luck on your business venture. If your plans are to add a contract sniper/mint sniper. I'd make the website more accessible to web3. A minting module on your website would need to connect to a wallet for example.

Once again wish you all the best.

Two of the buy signals eventually rugged and did not make it to secondary market. Not sure if I was unlucky or the tool wasn't as good as I thought. A third pick that I had my eyes had mint price at 0.5 sol and now the floor pice is 0.08..I didn't watch it that carefully though.
